Four Miles Of Forest Flame Range Across Blue Mountain

Volunteers Still Battle Major Blaze

FOUR MILES of flame licked, crackled and roared along the top of Blue Mountain on the Monroe-Northampton line early today.

In the darkness, lighted by lanterns and the orange glare of the huge forest fire, more than 100 volunteers worked to stem the tide moving slowly toward the northeast.

Early today foresters, rangers, wardens and volunteers by the score were still at the back-breaking job of lugging 5-gallon cans of water through the woods to the fire. In some cases it meant a round-trip hike of 14 miles.

District Forester E. C. Pyle directed the battle from his Stroudsburg office throughout the day, receiving reports from the scene and guiding relief crews to the area from other sections.

About 8 p.m. Pyle moved his headquarters to the scene of the fire, there to direct operations.

Last night there were five wardens directing some 75 volunteers atop the ridge, Pyle said.

More volunteers were beginning to arrive at the scene in mid-evening. The firefighters are men who hold jobs during the daytime and cannot always be released in event of a fire. After their day's work is done—"they spend all night fighting a fire . . . because someone has been careless," Pyle said.

The area was described as thick with woods and brush. Pyle said it had been about 12 years since fire had scorched the section and there was considerable growth. It made the job of firemen tougher, since there were no roads leading anywhere close to the circumference of the blaze.

The fire started about 11:30 a.m. at the Pen Argyl reservoir, situated on the Pen Argyl-Wind Gap road. Pen Argyl fire company turned out to fight the blaze, which the wind swept swiftly northward up the side of the mountain toward Monroe County.

By 3 p.m. the flame had spread so that a number of homes at the extreme eastern limit of the borough were endangered. Firemen prevented damage to any buildings, but flames licked in backyards a number of times.

Two other fire companies turned out to aid in fighting the blaze: Laurel Ridge Co. and the group from Sandt Eddy.

The road running closest to the fire was the one leading to Blue Mountain Pines Camp, situated halfway up the side.

For a time the fire threatened the camp and buildings, but was successfully beaten back.

During the day yesterday the huge pall of smoke was watched by residents as far away as a few miles outside Easton. About dusk, watchers in Monroe County's West End could see the flame stringing along the ridge. Close to midnight a watcher in the Snydersville area said the blaze appeared to have dropped about half a mile down the ridge on the Monroe side.

Another report from a correspondent who toured Route 90 was that about 11 p.m. the blaze appeared to be halting its northeast advance and turning further north, toward the Cherry Valley area.

Several cars were grouped at the Route 90 intersection of the Appalachian Trail last night, probably from firefighters who started from that spot to move along the trail to reach the fire.

Atomic Shot Again Called By Weather

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 11 (AP)—A forecast of continuing winds today forced postponement until at least Wednesday of a major atomic shot on Frenchman Flat.

The Atomic Energy Commission said a weather conference tomorrow morning will determine whether the 400-foot tower blast will be set off at 9 a.m. Wednesday.

This will be the major Defense Department test of Army equipment and construction of the 1955 series, and three jet planes will be flown by remote control close to the heart of the nuclear burst.

Schine-Laurie Marriage Denied

Schine refused to comment.

Schine, 26, a private first class in the Army, was the central figure in the Army-McCarthy hearings last year. He formerly was an unpaid investigator on the staff of the Senate Permanent Investigations subcommittee, then headed by Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

11 Red Chinese Aboard Big Indian Airliner Missing Enroute To Bandung Confab

SINGAPORE, Tuesday, April 12 (AP)—A chartered Indian airliner with 11 Red Chinese aboard has disappeared over the South China Sea. The passengers were reported to be members of a Peiping delegation, including lesser officials and newsmen, to next week's African-Asian conference in Bandung, Indonesia.

The plane, a four-engined Constellation, was believed to have

The plane, a four-engined Constellation, was believed to have crashed Monday night near the Great Natuna Islands, 250 miles northeast of Singapore. It belongs to Air India International, owned by the Indian government. One report in more general terms said the plane was believed to have crashed 100 miles off Sarawak, British crown colony on the island of Borneo.

The airliner took off Monday morning from Hong Kong for Jakarta, Indonesia. Shortly after making radio contact with Jakarta the plane began sending distress signals. It was already hours overdue at its first stop, Kuching, in northwestern Sarawak.

Peter Mahta, Air India's manager in Hong Kong, said the Constellation radioed three distress signals. Then its transmitter went silent.

Jakarta air control officials alerted Britain's RAF Air-Sea Rescue Center in Singapore, which dispatched a fast launch to the airliner's last known position. Two Sunderland flying boats and two Valletta transport aircraft were to join the search at dawn today.

British navy headquarters here said it had received word two ships, one of them Norwegian, were in the general area and were hurrying to the scene. A British navy frigate, HMS Dampier, also was being sent from Singapore.

Air India officials said late last night:

"We have absolutely no information on what happened to the aircraft and know nothing about its reported crashing in Sarawak or elsewhere. We only know the plane is overdue in Indonesia, and we are making every effort to determine just what has happened."

The Red Chinese passengers were the first of a big delegation, estimated variously at between 40 and 120, from Peiping to the 29-nation Bandung conference.

The Chinese Reds picked Premier Chou En-lai to head the delegation. It was thought unlikely that Chou himself was aboard the Constellation since he is not expected in Indonesia until the end of this week.

Segregation Arguments Before Supreme Court Center Around Conflict Over Possible Delay

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Conflicting arguments for erasing the color line in public schools—gradually or "forthwith"—opened today before the nine Supreme Court justices.

There were three and a half hours of argument in the first day's proceedings. These added up to the idea that Negro attorneys want no delay and the states that are affected want more time in carrying out the historic decision by which the Supreme Court last May 17 held that separate schools for Negro and white children are unconstitutional.

Chief Justice Warren finally asked rival attorneys to submit specific recommendations for a decree the court must issue on how and when to end segregated schools in Kansas, Delaware, South Carolina, Virginia, and the District of Columbia. These are directly involved but the final decree will affect all states with segregated schools.

Lawyers for Negro parents urged that the tribunal order an end to separate schools at the start of the next school year, or in September 1956, at the latest.

Delaware and Kansas, through their attorney generals, said they are making progress toward integration but need more time. Atty. Gen. Joseph E. Craven of Delaware said that the issue has "troubled and divided" the people of Delaware.

The black-robed justices, who broke in with frequent detailed questions, were told that integration is well under way in the national capital and that all public schools here will be open alike to whites and Negroes next September.

When the arguments got under way the 200 seats for spectators were filled almost equally with Negroes and whites.

But they heard no startling statements, no questions that gave any definite clues as to what the justices might have in mind for a desegregation decree, and little in the way of argument that hadn't been presented already in briefs.

When the court handed down its antisegregation ruling last spring, it left open a question of how its decision should be enforced.

Corsi Quits Offer For New Post

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Republican National Chairman Leonard Hall urged Edward J. Corsi today to stay in the administration, after Corsi turned down a job offered to replace his vanished immigration post.

Corsi, longtime Republican worker and officeholder in New York State, saw his State Department post of immigration adviser pulled out from under him last week.

Secretary Dulles, under fire from Italian-American groups and other friends of Corsi, offered to give him a job surveying the possibility of settling European immigrants in Latin America.

But Corsi turned down the offer today. Mrs. Corsi issued the announcement, saying:

"Mr. Corsi has notified the secretary by letter this morning that he regrets his inability to accept the secretary's offer. He has no further comment at this time."

Later, at the invitation of GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, Corsi visited with Hall for 40 minutes. At the end of the meeting, Hall sent out a statement saying:

"I had a long and friendly talk with Mr. Corsi this morning and he told me he has refused the position in the State Department.

"In view of Mr. Corsi's long and valuable contribution to the Republican Party I urged him to continue in the administration."

Corsi told reporters "I'm too tired" to discuss what he might do.

World Peace More Vital Than Politics

CHICAGO, April 11 (AP) — Adlai Stevenson said tonight he has "grave misgivings about risking a third world war in defense of" Quemoy and Matsu islands.

He accused the Eisenhower administration of "pursuing a dead-end policy in Asia," and said the United States should enlist other free nations in "an open declaration" of policy on the Formosa situation.

Stevenson told a nationwide radio audience in a prepared speech that U.S. dissension with its allies —"The weakening of the grand alliance of free nations pledged to stand together to defend themselves, is in my judgement a greater peril to enduring peace than the islands themselves."

He referred to Quemoy and Matsu, tiny Nationalist-held islands which are under invasion threat from nearby Red China.

Speaking in response to what he said were requests for his views on the nation's Far East policy, Stevenson said he believes it is "based more on political difficulties here at home than the realities of our situation in Asia."

We face "the bitter consequences" of that policy, he said, "either another damaging and humiliating retreat, or else the hazard of war, modern war, unleashed not by necessity, not by strategic judgement. . . .

"If we should withdraw under fire from defense of these islands, we again act the 'paper tiger'; if we join in their defenses, we are at war, perhaps world war, without major allies, and with most of the public opinion in Asia and Europe against us."

He said, "The tragedy is that the possibility of war just now seems to hinge upon . . . small islands that lie almost as close to the coast of China as Staten Island does to New York."

He urged that "our government promptly consult our friends, yes, and the uncommitted states, too, and ask them all to join with us in an open declaration condemning the use of force in the Formosa Strait" and agreeing to "stand with us in the defense of Formosa against aggression."

Dulles Blasts Craven Peace

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles said tonight that "craven purchase of peace at the expense of principle" could lead to destroying much of the human spirit in the world.

"Peace can be a cover whereby evil men can perpetrate diabolical wrongs," the secretary said.

"Modern developments have made war more terrible," he said, "but they have also made the consequences of retreat and surrender more terrible."

Dulles' audience was the fifth annual all-Jesuit alumni dinner.

In his prepared remarks, Dulles accused Communist leaders of craftily scheming to build up "a popular demand for peace at any price."

"The Communist leaders know that if pacifism becomes a prevalent mood among the free peoples," he said, "the Communists can easily conquer the world. Then they can confront the free peoples with successive choices between peace and surrender; and if peace is the absolute goal, then surrenders become inevitable."

Dulles did not mention any specific foreign policy problem in his address which was mainly a philosophical review of the many complicating factors which beset decisions on foreign policy.

The United States, he said, must follow "a consistent and predictable course" in order to help other nations who want to coordinate their policy with America's.

To do this, he said, America's rulers must continue to be guided by moral principle rather than material gain.

Making club's presentation was Mrs. Samuel Wells, right, who gave check to Dr. Harold S. Pond, Heart Committee president. Dr. Pond, in turn, gave citation to the club commending members for their work. Citation was accepted by Mrs. Wells, later presented to Mrs. Walter Caulfield, left, club president.

1955 Heart Fund Drive Goes Over Quota By Better Than Fifty Percent In Poconos

THE 1955 HEART FUND drive went "over the top" by 50 per cent in Monroe County.

Mrs. Samuel Wells, chairman of the drive, presented a check for $4,460.79 to the Monroe County Heart Committee yesterday. Dr. Harold S. Pond, president of the Heart Committee, accepted the check.

Dr. Pond then presented a citation to the Stroudsburg Woman's Club, sponsors of the drive. The citation lauded the women for their outstanding service to public knowledge about heart disease and commended them for their work in collecting the funds.

The 1955 quota for the Heart Fund was $3,000. Actually, the fund reached $4,545.04 but expenses for the campaign totaled $84.25.

A breakdown of contributions showed the following sums were collected:

House - to - house canvass — Stroudsburg: $858.13; East Stroudsburg, $718.59; outlying area: $1,363.03; Industry—$134.87; Plastic counter hearts—$280.34; Dance and cake walks—$101.02; voluntary contributions—$682.88; special letters—$406.00.

Polio Virus Becomes Own 'Salk' Enemy

PITTSBURGH, April 12 (AP)—The crippling and often deadly polio virus becomes its own worst enemy in the antipolio vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk at the University of Pittsburgh.

Dr. Salk, at a recent news conference, gave newsmen a laboratory glimpse of how the vaccine is made and explained how it works. This is the story:

The virus is captured in the bodies of persons ill with infantile paralysis. The virus is chemically prepared to return to the human blood stream. There it encourages production of disease-killing antibodies.

The antibodies are substances in the human body which fight infection. The trouble is antibodies sometimes are produced too late to offset a serious attack of disease.

The Salk vaccine causes the human body to produce these antibodies in large amounts.

To assemble and prove the right combination for turning polio virus against itself, Dr. Salk and a staff of 50 have found the monkey their most valuable assistant.

The monkey—mostly the rhesus variety flown from India—supplies kidney tissue on which the captured viruses feed and multiply.

The monkeys also are used to test effectiveness and safety of the vaccine.

Dr. Salk's staff estimates 15,000 monkeys were used in the six years of experimental work.

Kirby Health Center Serves Monroe Salk

HARRISBURG, April 11 (AP) The State Health Department today listed 11 centers from which the Salk anti-polio vaccine will be distributed in Pennsylvania if the serum is approved tomorrow for public use.

Dr. Berwyn F. Mattison, state health secretary, also set up storage centers for the vaccine and physicians to handle the distribution to the state's 469,652 first and second grade pupils eligible for the inoculations.

A report on the effectiveness of the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk, of the University of Pittsburgh, will be made tomorrow based on nationwide field trials made last year.

Dr. Mattison said the distribution system will go into motion quickly if the serum is approved.

Medical and school authorities of the state and units of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis will work with the Health Department in giving the mass inoculations in Pennsylvania.

The distribution and administration of the serum will be handled on local levels by district or county medical directors. Some large cities will conduct their own inoculation programs through their health departments.

Butler and Bucks counties will handle programs through their county health departments.

The centers, including the name of the distributor, the storage site, counties included and number of eligible children, include:

Dr. C. Hayden Phillips, Kirby Health Center, Wilkes-Barre, 32,803 children; Columbia, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Monroe, Pike, Sullivan, Susquehanna, Wayne and Wyoming Counties.

Judicial Confab

PITTSBURGH, April 11 (AP)—The Pennsylvania Supreme Court will hold a judicial conference Thursday and Friday. Some 160 of the 200 common pleas court judges in Pennsylvania expect to attend.

Answer To Be Announced At 10:30 Today

ANN ARBOR, Mich., April 11 (AP)—The secret papers on the Salk polio vaccine were optimistically expected tonight to herald the beginning of the end of polio.

The secret — whether and how well the vaccine works — will be disclosed at 10:20 a.m. EST tomorrow.

If the answer is yes, it means success in a 10-million-dollar search for a practical way to stop paralytic polio and its tragedies.

Guesses as to the vaccine's effectiveness ranged from 90 per cent upward but with absolutely no confirmation.

The two men who know the most —Dr. Jonas E. Salk, its discoverer, and Dr. Thomas Francis Jr., its judge—wouldn't comment on rumors.

But Dr. Salk shook his head negatively when asked if he had made any statement that his work would show that the vaccine was an unqualified success.

In a news conference they gave some educational tips on vaccines in general—pointing out that not everyone responds the same way. They said that one of the best vaccines yet, that against smallpox, is 95 per cent effective or better.

Dr. Francis, tomorrow, announces the findings in his secret papers—still being printed late today—at a scientific session at the University of Michigan which probably will have the greatest news coverage ever given a medical meeting.

The meeting falls on the tenth anniversary of the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt, a polio victim who founded the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Research dollars from the foundation's March of Dimes fund, contributed by the public and devoted to vaccine research and allied answers to polio, total now about 10 millions.

Dr. Francis, University of Michigan epidemiologist, headed the year-long task of gathering the results of the vaccination of 440,000 children. Some 210,000 received dummy shots, and more than a million other children — given no shots—were observed as comparisons.

Until tonight, at least, Dr. Francis hadn't even told Dr. Salk or anyone else his findings. He was picked for the job of making a scientific analysis because, as one colleague said, "No one can push him around."

Dr. Salk, the University of Pittsburgh research man who once studied under Dr. Francis, and several other prominent scientists will follow Dr. Francis on the program. Dr. Salk is expected to report new findings from his laboratory which would make the vaccine better than it was at the stage of development when it was used experimentally last year.

If tomorrow's report calls the vaccine a success, it must then be licensed for use by the National Institute of Health.

Legionnaire Warns

PITTSBURGH, April 11 (AP) Seaborn P. Collins, national commander of the American Legion, said today the United States must make up its mind where it is going to stop Communist aggression "even if it means World War III."

Supreme Court Knocks Out Virgin Islands' For Vacationers Divorces By 5 To 3 Vote

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP) — The Supreme Court knocked out the Virgin Islands' divorces-for-vacationers law today by a vote of 5-3.

No decrees have been granted under the law, which required only six weeks actual presence in the islands and no declaration of intention by either party to live there in the future.

Justice Frankfurter, who wrote the majority opinion, said the six-week divorce law, adopted in 1953 and already held invalid by the lower courts, was not intended for local application but was designed for people outside the islands.

Justice Clark, speaking for himself and Justices Black and Reed, disagreed sharply with the majority.

In other actions before turning to arguments on how and when segregation must end in public schools, the court:

1. Refused to review a National Labor Relations Board ruling that an employer must furnish wage information demanded by a union, including the names of workers and their pay. This means the ruling stands.

The NLRB made the ruling during negotiations for a general increase conducted by the CIO United Steelworkers with the Whitin Machine Works of Charlotte, N. C.

The Whitin firm provided various facts about wage ranges, job classifications, and the number of emp' yes in each classification. But the company refused to name the persons paid at each rate. After losing in the U.S. Circuit Court in Richmond, Va., the company asked the Supreme Court to overturn the NLRB, but the high court refuses to act.

2. Ruled that states cannot fix minimum prices to be paid for natural gas, after its production and gathering has ended, by a company which transports the gas for resale in interstate commerce. Adhering to its decision in the Phillips gas case, the court said the Federal Power Commission has exclusive regulation over such sales and transportation.

MORE PEOPLE BOUGHT FORD CARS THAN ANY OTHER MAKE IN 1954

• Ford sales to customers during 1954 outnumbered those of any other make by thousands . . . according to net registration figures compiled by R. L. Polk & Company. Net registrations are registrations made in the names of actual car buyers.

That's because . . .

Ford offers more in modern beauty, as it has for several years. For '55, there are 16 beautiful new Ford models which drew their styling inspiration from the Thunderbird—Ford's great personal car.

Ford offers more in responsive V-8 power . . . the results of Ford's V-8 leadership in its field for the past 23 years! For '55, there is a brilliant new 162-h.p. Y-block V-8 and a mightier 182-h.p. Y-block Special V-8—as well as the industry's most modern Six.

Ford offers more in smooth riding comfort. Ford introduced Ball-Joint Front Suspension to its field in 1954. And for '55, this superior Ford suspension system is still better. Now, springs are set at an angle to absorb road shock from the front as well as straight up. This means a better ride for you over all roads.

Bushkill's Fire Company Adds Members

THE BUSHKILL Fire Company met this month with 22 members and one guest present. Five new members were accepted at this meeting.

President Frank Messerle expressed his thanks to those who worked on the new concrete floor, which is now completed. The group voted to erect a sign on the front of the building.

During the month the company answered five calls, four of these were grass fires in the village and one was a house and grass fire at Dingman's Ferry.

George Ladlee was appointed Chief of the fire police and four other members will be appointed.

A progress report was given by the equipment committee with respect to prices and availability of equipment. The company has been contemplating the purchase of a tanker and also a four-wheel drive truck.

This additional equipment would provide a sufficient water supply for the many areas where water supply is limited. The company plans to hold a frolic to work on the bank at the rear of the building. President Messerle will make arrangements with the men for this work.

Fortunate Canada

With the final date for filing our 1954 income tax reports this Friday we read with mixed emotions the story that Canadians will get an income tax cut averaging 10 per cent, starting July 1, that the taxes on big corporation incomes will be reduced, that some excise taxes will be reduced and others cancelled.

This jolly news from our friends north of the border, then, finds us happy to have them so benefited, while at the same time we wish there might be a more generous reduction in our income tax picture.

As far as our own national economy is concerned, there has seldom been a more optimistic future than presently confronts us, with most prophets predicting a consistent improvement throughout 1955 and an end result placing the year far ahead of 1954.

This is all to the good, and we only wish that as our heavy taxes continue . . . with expectation of Pennsylvania adding to them . . . we might have a more visible demonstration of economy in government. Without a doubt, efforts are consistently made to improve the efficiency of government, in all categories, but there never seems to be a time when such efforts pay off in reduced taxes.

We know we must continue our defense preparations if we are to remain free, but we wish there might be a little less waste and extravagance on all levels of government, so that the taxpayer could escape that beat-over the-head feeling.

Anyway, we are glad our cousins to the north are getting a tax break, and we shall continue to hope and pray that some day, somehow, we too will share such joyous tidings.

Take Off The Heat

With a kitty of Government money, the American Fisheries Advisory Committee meets in Washington April 28 to get more people to eat fish.

The Interior Department reports the main trouble is bum cooks who over-fry fish until it tastes like a cement sandwich.

In that case, the solution is simple. Just go easy on the heat.

And give the Treasury back the money.

Still Hope For Men

For the first time in 50 years, a man is in line to become president of the District of Columbia Parent Teachers Assn.

That is good news and heartening news for all males. Long ago they lost the privacy from women they enjoyed in barber shops, smoking cars, taverns and other preserves once marked "Men Only."

So, it's encouraging to know that a man has made some inroads into an organization which women, more or less, have run for years.

If this trend keeps up, the day may come when the ladies, bless 'em, may look upon men as their equals.

Father's Living Routine May Be Of His Planning

A lot of sentimentalists (or maybe just sly promoters with axes to grind) have been shedding copious tears of late about the alleged "decline and fall of Father."

They deplore the tendency in books, plays, comic strips, TV skits and almost everywhere else to depict the one-time typical Lord of the Manor as a butterfingered, henpecked, browbeaten, hood-winked boob. These derisive caricatures, says one national magazine article, are not totally absurb.

"They merely present in heightened and exaggerated form the essential truth. We live in the era of Father's fall from power and prestige. The female and mother has been taking over, while father has shriveled to a mere financial accessory of the home."

Oh, poo!

I don't deny that The Old Man gets the little end of the stick in the situation comedies, the funny papers and the best sellers. Millions of people the country over die laughing every day about his inadequacy and gullibility.

But don't let that fool you. People need something to laugh at, there's a limit to the yaks you can squeeze out of Bing Crosby's horses, and it's unchivalrous to make fun of women.

One of the A-B-C's of humor is that picking on a man when he's down is not funny. If father really were the inept, beaten-down dope he is so often pictured to be the gag artists wouldn't be pummeling him so unmercifully. They'd be pretending not to notice him.

My observation is that the Fathers I see around are mostly doing all right, thank you.

What if the women do spend 85 percent of the money? It doesn't follow that that's entirely their idea. Spending money isn't as much of a lark as it's cracked up to be — as witness any woman at the end of a busy day shopping.

Think of all those draining decisions the family breadwinner has managed to slough off to the distaff side. Think of all the irritating encounters with arrogant salespeople he ducks. Think of all the wear and tear he avoids in return trips to get the right sizes and colors.

And what if the rest of the family IS ashamed of Father's lack of social grace and of the baggy clothes he wears and of the sloppy way he looks about the house? Gets him out of a lot of pointless running around, doesn't it? And it spares him many a stuffy evening making small-talk with intolerable bores.

And suppose he doesn't carry as much prestige as Fathers did back in feudal times. He doesn't have to live up to it, either.

If I were a professional bleeding-heart I wouldn't waste too many tears on the average modern Father. It is barely possible that he has his living routine squeegeed around to just about the way he likes it.

Maybe Father's a fox.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Retroactive Tax Feature May Be Soon Eliminated

Washington, April 12: Some mighty cheerful news for businessmen is leaking out of the Senate Finance Committee.

It's being strongly hinted this tax-writing Committee will water down that bill rushed through the House several weeks ago plugging up an estimated $1,000,000,000 in corporation loopholes in the big 1954 tax law.

According to the inside tips, one highly likely modification is the elimination of the retroactive provision of the House measure.

If that happens, business will be saved an estimated $500,000,000 in taxes.

The legislation, repealing the so-called "bookkeeping sections" of the 1954 Revenue Act, was speeded through the House with powerful bi-partisan backing. Treasury Secretary Humphrey vigorously urged this to avert heavy loss in government income and a consequent increase in this year's deficit.

Due to the Easter holiday, the Senate Finance Committee has not yet held hearings on the House bill. But there has been a lot of activity on it behind-the-scenes.

Committeemen are privately telling about discussions of possible "compromises" with tax attorneys of large concerns that have a juicy stake in the loopholes plugged up by the House. Also, the Senate as a whole is being bombarded with letters from business leaders arguing forcefully against this measure.

There are significant indications that these high-powered protests are having telling effect on both the Finance Committee and the Senate generally.

Following are prominent examples of these potent blasts:

Patrick McGinnis, president of New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad: "Strongly urge opposition to request for appeal . . . These sections were enacted after years of study and extensive hearings. They corrected a long-standing defect in the revenue laws. Their repeal would result in severe hardship to this railroad. Intelligent business planning will be impossible while the Treasury Department continues to change its mind as in this instance."

Robert Barnett, official of Western Union Telegraph Co.: "This concern materially changed its legal and economic position in reliance upon the availability to it of these tax provisions . . . The directors . . . increased the dividend from 75 cents to $1.00 . . . and submitted to stockholders a proposal to split the stock 4 to 1 . . . Benefits claimed are a reserve for vacation pay in the amount of $6,723,000 and a reserve for self-insured casualty losses in the amount of $100,000 . . . Repeal would result in the disallowance of deductions claimed and would constitute the retroactive imposition of federal taxes."

F. L. Durham, treasurer, Panhandle Oil Co., Dallas, Tex.: "We particularly object to the retroactive repeal of this section since we have already filed our 1954 tax return and taken advantage of the benefits."

Lloyd Adams, secretary-treasurer, Louisiana Mortgage Bankers Association, New Orleans: "We are shocked and sadly disappointed over repeal of sections dealing with reserves for expenses and prepaid income, particularly on retroactive basis. That will cause great trouble, considerable expense and no little embarrassment to our members who have already acted in accordance with these provisions in the law."

Note: Whatever the Finance Committee does, it is certain to be challenged in the full Senate where debate is unlimited and many of the legislators are already running busily for re-election next year.

An inside peek — Senator Norris Cotton (R., N. H.), who is highly esteemed by President Eisenhower and is a particularly close friend of White House Secretary Sherman Adams, makes some significant statements about the Formosa crisis in a message to constituents.

Cotton's unusually frank comments could be a revealing straw in the wind on what is transpiring in this critical situation.

The New Englander's remarks are of special moment because of his intimate White House associations. He owes his election last year largely to the President's hearty support, and sees him and Adams oftener than some of the top GOP congressional leaders. Cotton's congressional experience dates back to the early 1920's, when he was secretary to the late Senator George Moses (R., N. H.), famed for his political skill and razor wit.

Medical Society Research

—by H. G. Heller

A RESEARCH fund has been set up by the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania whereby it is granted the privilege of soliciting funds to supervise and administer educational and scientific projects in the field of medicine.

"This is the first such trust ever created by a state medical society", explained Dr. Pascal D. Lucchesi, of Philadelphia, chairman of the Committee on Preventive Medicine and Public Health of the Medical Society, "and our first objective is the development of constructive, informed relationship between the practicing physician and the public health program of various communities. The first grant received in this plan, $80,000 from the A. W. Mellon Educational and Charitable Trust, is earmarked to finance a three-year project in post-graduate professional education aimed to assist in the establishment of county health departments in Pennsylvania which will present better public health services to its citizens."

Instrumental in the creation of the State Health Department half a century ago, the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania, in 1946, established its own Commission on Public Health and Preventive Medicine to encourage a continuous and progressive program in this field of medicine. The Board of Trustees of the Society approved a merit system for all state public health personnel and the establishment of county health units and assisted in promulgating these recommendations into law in 1951.

"The Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania is qualified to supervise and administer such educational and scientific projects and now is legally privileged to accept grants from foundations, individuals, and corporations who may wish to make such grants," added Dr. Lucchesi. "We propose to make every physician in Pennsylvania a more effective participant in his community health program."

An intensified educational campaign directed to aid Pennsylvanians in meeting their health problems has been instituted by the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania under the general title "Safeguard your Health."

"The Medical Society has always carried on educational work in health matters directed to the public," declared Dr. Allen W. Cowley, of Harrisburg, chairman of the Committee on Public Relations of the Society, "but we wish to emphasize certain objectives, particularly in assisting individuals in the selection of persons qualified to administer to their personal health needs and in the selection of health insurance to cover themselves and their families."

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Income Tax Is A Device By Which The Middle Class Of Country Is Wiped Out

It does not matter that we have an additional month this year to pay the income tax; the same old horror comes around in due course to take what is left over after a year's work. No more little or big accumulation to be invested or spent: it all goes to the tax collector.

T. Coleman Andrews, Commissioner of Internal Revenue, one of the best we have ever had, is probably doing more to make the country conscious of the burden of the income tax than any of his predecessors, because he is instituting efficient methods of collecting this revenue. He makes it tough in accordance with Acts of Congress, and the tougher he makes it, the more the taxpayer will become conscious of what is happening to him and his family.

I do not say this in disparagement of Mr. Andrews, who does his duty as the law provides. The income tax law is to blame, it has become a mad hodge-podge of provisions until the forms are so complex and the rules and regulations so confusing, that one hardly knows what to do. If one earns a bit more than his neighbor and gets up into what are called the middle brackets, he really needs a bookkeeper to watch over him, particularly if he buys a man a drink or a dinner. He needs to decide whether this is just sociability or is he trying to get into the good graces of the individual in the hope of some day selling him an insurance policy or something? One may be deducted as a business expense, the other not, and how do you decide which is which and how can you prove what your motive was at the moment?

The income tax is a device by which the middle class of a country is gradually wiped out. Those who have inherited wealth need not worry about it as long as they have accumulations of inherited capital to live on. That too will go through the inheritance taxes, inflation and such devices. But while it lasts, it is good. Those who have savings to invest can benefit through capital gains, but that system of saving some reservoirs of private capital is now being criticized.

The Middle Class in the United States is exceptional in that it includes many laborers who in Europe would be of the proletariat. It might roughly be described as those who earn from $10,000 to $50,000 a year. A very large part of the American people are in this category and they are the hardest hit by this tax, particularly if they are self-employed, as most professional and small business men are. At the present time such elements in our population are being squeezed between the income tax and the high cost of living and will, if the system continues, be reduced to the proletariat.

The shortage of school teachers, of nurses, of certain types of engineers, even of general practitioners among the doctors, is, in a measure, due to the fact that the final take-home pay is too small to keep one living on the standards which are expected of such people. It could be more sensible to drive a truck and to belong to Dave Beck's union.

There is increasing talk of substituting a transaction tax for the income tax, and although the talk is not yet serious, the fact that a substitute is being discussed could mean that when the law of diminishing returns sets in, a way will have to be found to save what is left of American capitalism. If strikes take place, such as the projected automobile strike, collections are bound to go down, while our commitments remain the same.

Tax collectors are never popular and T. Coleman Andrews is a wise enough man to have known what he was doing when he took on the job of being the greatest tax collector in the world. Perhaps one day, he will retreat from this occupation, and out of his unusual experience will advise our people what they ought to do about taxes. Surely, they cannot go on pretending that they live in a private enterprise system when so large a share of their earnings is taken by the government. Karl Marx was right about the graduated income tax; it is the best means for destroying the capitalist system.

Irving Hoffman sends me a note from a friend who got so angry filling out forms that he burst into something approximating poetry:

"Forms that ask you for your name in reverse,
Forms that ask you for your
last name first;
Forms with a lot of useless
dope
That you couldn't read with a microscope;
Red forms, yellow forms,
blue forms, pink forms;
Please write plainly and
please-use-ink forms;
Blanks with a space you
musn't write in,
Big enough to fly a kite in;
Space the size of a piggy
flea
For a resume of your history.
Tax blanks, blank blanks, personnel planks,
And just plain blankety blank,
blank, blank blanks . . ."

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

Reports from all over the Christian world indicate that Easter 1955 marked an unprecedented spiritual upsurging. The message of "the stone rolled away" and the words "He is risen" linger days later. Spring repeats the miracle in every outdoor vista so the skeptic can see in a thousand ways the life after death and the Resurrection after the bleakness of the enveloping earth. Apple boughs, cherry blooms, budding lilacs and the crocus bursting out of yesterday's desolate garden are choreographers making resplendent the greatest of "spectaculars" and providing an encore, while robin, lark and warbler flash the lyrical, "It was not just a Sunday wonder. Don't let the spell fade quickly."

A day or two after Easter is a good time for a review of the most dramatic story in human history, and we think the spell of the "youth clothed in white garments" and the two Marys in the memorable dawn lingers more sharply today than for generations. Today would be about the time of the appearance of Jesus at the house at Emmaus, three-score miles out of Jerusalem and the reunion with the Disciples, their amazed recognition and His "Peace be to you." It would be about this hour perhaps that Thomas said, "Unless I see the print of the nails and thrust my hand into his side I will not believe," setting the unforgettable pattern of the skeptic. And the words of Jesus, after Thomas had done so, "Because Thou hast seen Thou hast believed. Blessed are they that have not seen, yet have believed" seem borne on the breezes of a 1955 spring after centuries.

The 1955 Easter was one when the hats, the new finery and style parades, wonderful as they were, didn't seem quite so important as in other years . . . things have been happening to folks under the terrible events and hazardous experiences of the last few years, and somehow the smartest styles seemed to do a fadeout before the image of the "shining white raiment," of the youth outside the Sepulcher and "the linen garments" on the bare floor of the tomb beside the "napkin from about His head." Churches went all out to make the simple attire of the two Marys and the Apostles seem the more wonderful. What a blessing and privilege it is to live in a country where the churches can be filled to overflowing by all faiths, and where it is possible for the Jewish Passover and the Christian Easter seasons to be observed by neighbors, each in full respect of the other! What an experience to hear voices lifted in song by all faiths, to hear the men of God say what they wish, how they wish and to see bigotry and distrust and hatred doing a shriveling act unmistakably on the street, in the homes and in the parks and fields as Gentile and Jewish kids, Catholic and Protestant small fry and the moppets of all creeds and colors mingle, reflecting the light of love that can be best seen in the eyes of little children! Easter may seem quite a spell back, but the melody lingers on.

Evangelist

Warbler at thy break of day,
God is in thy roundelay;
Call of chapel and of church
Rings out from thy leafy perch.

II

When you speak from bower green,
I know what the preachers mean;
In thy gospel full of cheer
Creeds and gospels are made clear.

III

You in song above a brook
Make a lovely music book
Of the thumb-worn Bible, and
I begin to understand!

Gov. Leader, Top Aides Slate Long Night Study Of Tax Issue

Field Still Apparently Wide Open

HARRISBURG, April 11 (AP) — Gov. George M. Leader and top aides dug into tax possibilities again tonight in the second week of conferences over raising an additional 400-500 million dollars in new revenues.

A governor's office spokesman said it was likely the session would last until midnight or later just as happened last Tuesday. The scene was the executive mansion along Harrisburg's river front drive.

Taking part in the extended discussions on tax possibilities were Democratic legislative leaders; Sen. Joseph M. Barr, state Democratic chairman, Atty. Gen. Herbert B. Cohen, and other tax advisers.

The field of taxation apparently continued wide open but capitol speculation still listed some form of an income tax, with variations, high on the list of possibilities.

The governor himself has said that he expects to have the administration tax package about wrapped up by the time the General Assembly reconvenes next Monday.

Cohen predicted that something "completely novel in Pennsylvania taxation" will come out of the conferences.

A governor's office spokesman said it was "conceivable" that tonight's session might wind up the parleys with legislative leaders over the tax problem.

If it doesn't, he said, meetings will resume tomorrow.

Live Rabbits, Chocolate To Egg Hunters

LIVE RABBITS, chocolate eggs, candy rabbits, jelly bean bags and candy of all kinds were among the prizes taken home by the hundreds of successful children participating in the Junior Chamber of Commerce Egg Hunt at the Stroudsburg Playground yesterday. A Jaycees spokesman said an estimated 2000 children took part in the hunt.

The first 100 children to find the hidden colored eggs received the live rabbits. The others were found throughout the session with perfect weather prevailing throughout the first such event sponsored by the Jaycees.

Burgess Hal Harris, Stroudsburg, and Jesse Flory, the East Stroudsburg Burgess, officially opened the festivities by throwing out the first eggs at 10 a.m. From then on it was a swarm of happy, yelling kids dashing all over the premises seeking the prize-winning eggs. A public address system kept the crowd informed throughout the affair.

There were a few lost children and a few mothers not too happy about adding rabbits to their household but otherwise it was a happy day for all. Two children's sweaters and a Rosary were found on the playground following the hunt. They may be recovered by calling at Johnson's Service Station, N. 5th Street.

Children in the two neighboring boroughs as well as some from other parts of Monroe County participated in the egg hunt. Herbert Zubow was chairman of the successful program.

Steve Allen, popular NBC-TV star of the variety show "Tonight" was honorary chairman of the hunt. He was notified of the selection last week.

The Jaycees have announced plans for a bigger and better egg hunt at Easter next year at East Stroudsburg. The group plans to alternate between the boroughs each year.

Company G Will Participate In Firing Drills This Month

THE LOCAL COMPANY G infantry unit of the Pennsylvania National Guard will participate in two days of firing drills late this month in preparation for a practice alert expected to be held in the near future.

The area guardsmen will conduct firing exercises April 23 and 24 at the Leach Outdoor Rifle Range near Scranton in order to qualify in various weapons.

Approximately 58 men and two officers will embark by convoy from East Stroudsburg early April 23 to take part in two full days of firing.

The group will be qualifying in rifles, 60 mm mortars, the 57 mm recoilless rifle, light machine gun and the 3.2 rocket.

Company G will also be represented when the Leach Range is formally dedicated Sunday, May 15. Capt. Gerald E. Shanley Jr., will lead the local group attending the dedication program.

Others will be 2nd Lt. Richard L. Rugg Jr., 1st Sgt. Vincent Marek, and M/Sgt. Robert Schoonover.

Dry Condition Will Not Halt Trout Season

HARRISBURG, April 11 (AP)—The State Forests and Waters Department today reported a "very dry condition" in state woodlands but assured fishermen that the 1955 trout season would open Friday on schedule.

"The forests are very dry but not dry enough to force postponement of the trout season," said Maurice K. Goddard, forests and waters secretary.

The trout season opens at 5 a.m. Friday and continues through July 31.

"The recent dry weather, coupled with winds that whipped the moisture from the land, have brought about a threat of forest fires but not one great enough to hold the fishermen back from their opening day," Goddard added.

However, the secretary urged all fishermen, campers and others using forest lands to "exercise caution in avoiding forest fires."

"There have been a great number of forest and brush fires in the state during the last two weeks and most were caused by people burning debris and brush at camp sites and other spots in the suburban localities," he explained.

Meanwhile, the Fish Commission looked toward a "good first day" with some 1½ million brook, brown and rainbow trout stocked during the last few months.

The commission said reports from its field forces indicated "an excellent carryover of trout in the streams from last year."

Trout of 6 or more inches are legal with each fisherman allowed a total catch of eight on any one day.

Eastern Area Red Cross Manager Appeals For Fund Campaign's Full Quota Now

STROUDSBURG POSTMASTER Fred Rhodes, chairman of the 1954 Monroe County Red Cross fund campaign, received an urgent appeal yesterday from the eastern area Red Cross manager to bring about a successful conclusion in the current campaign.

Harold B. Nearman, the official making the appeal, said:

"Since March 1 more than five hundred thousand persons a day have enrolled as members of the American Red Cross and given their financial support to continue its essential work.

"It is important in this period of world unrest we make our organization as strong as possible. Sincerely urge therefore that your chapter continue your campaign efforts to enroll participating members of the Red Cross.

"We are over-expended in our 1954-55 disaster budget and have been forced to draw on emergency funds to meet needs with heaviest disaster season still ahead. We must be ready to give maximum services to members of the armed certainty and world tension. certainty and world tension.

"The human needs to be met are great. It will take all our efforts to enroll the membership strength necessary to meet these needs and secure the funds required. I hope you will continue your efforts until you reach success."

False Alarm In Borough

THE STROUDSBURG fire company answered a false alarm last night at 6:52 at the residence of Vernon Imbt on Dreher Avenue.

"It was a very unnecessary call. I don't know who rung it in," commented Fire Chief Millard Marsh. The chief said he already had a truck standing by at the scene as Imbt had notified him earlier of plans to burn off a grass lot.

Stroud Has Grass Fire

THE STROUD Township fire department extinguished a fire at the home of Mrs. Edward Lesoine near Chipperfield Drive yesterday at 1:30 p.m.

A rubbish fire got out of hand and spread to the woods, according to a spokesman for the fire company. He said an estimated three acres of land was burned but firemen prevented any damage to homes in the area by quickly putting out the flames.

Huge Class Of CD Police To Be Graduated

A CLASS of nearly 150 Civil Defense auxiliary police will be graduated tonight in East Stroudsburg.

The ceremonies will be held at the Day St. fire company building at 7:30 p.m. Executive CD director Paul W. Crawn said the class is again one of the largest ever graduated in Pennsylvania.

The last class—first in the county—was a record breaker.

The class is noted for another reason too—it contains more women volunteers than have ever been in a single class in State CD history, Crawn said. Almost 50 have completed the course.

The oath will be administered by County CD director Fred W. Davis.

Crawn will speak briefly. So will Jack Anderson of Mount Pocono, Eastern area director in Pennsylvania. Maj. William D. Plummer, head of Monroe CD police will be attending, with Amzi F. Altemose, county CD security head; Sgt. Robert Musser of Wyoming barracks will supervise the fingerprinting of all graduates, and will speak. Burgess Jesse S. Flory of East Stroudsburg will attend; also Stroudsburg Burgess Hal H. Harris.

Class instructor was Arthur V. Jones, a Scranton private detective, who will be present with his assistant, Martin Popyke.

Crawn said the class will boost the county's present total of about 500 CD police. By way of comparison, Crawn pointed out that the entire city of Scranton has only 30 qualified CD police.

There are only two kinds of Memorial Artists — Designers who plan the work, and Craftsmen who complete it. We do both.

Cancer Society's Free Dressings Vital Service

DURING 1954 the Monroe County unit, American Cancer Society, gave 19,602 cancer dressings to local patients.

Each of these 19,602 dressings was absolutely free. No charge was made for making them. No charge was made for handling them and delivering them to the families or nurses who take them to the home.

It would be difficula to set a financial value on the dressings themselves.

For one thing, they are not readily available on the commercial market. Another reason: the bandages range in size from the smallest (three inches square) to the large (20 by 27 inch) dressing.

Also provided by the Society unit are a series of small pads for eyes, ears and nose wounds, complete with cotton tapes and bed pads.

Since each of these dressings and pads varies widely in size and the amount of material used, the cost of making each one is also different.

At a conservative estimate, the dressings provided by the Cancer Society Monroe County unit would be worth at least 20 cents each.

In cases of large dressings, bed pads and specific bandage-dressings, the cost would be much higher.

Even at the conservative guess of 20 cents per dressing, however, the local unit has given away $3,920.40 worth of material without any cost to the patient during the past year.

This is far above the amount of money kept withinthe county last year through results of the annual Cancer Crusade drive.

The reason the Society is able to provide thousands of free dressings to the dozens of cancer patients in Monroe County each year is that public service groups and women's organizations give their services in making the dressings.

Under the direction of Mrs. John Stanford, who serves as coordinator for the Cancer Society, the volunteers come from nearly every area of Monroe County. Some of them belong to women's clubs; others are members of Church groups and Bible classes.

The workers use material bought—in large amounts—by the Cancer Society. Huge squares of gauze are cut up in sizes needed. Bulk-packed cellulose is used to pad the centers of large dressings. Cotton tape is cut to fit the specific dressing being made.

During all of this the work is being done voluntarily and at no charge to either the Cancer Society or the cancer victim.

The net result of this cooperative venture is that most cancer victims who have been cured have hundreds of Monroe County residents to thank for the fact.

Another group of "volunteers" in the Monroe County battle against cancer contributes greatly to the success of the cancer dressings project by giving soft, old cotton sheets, linen tablecloths and other white goods to the Society. Pieces of this material are cut up and used in the making of dressings and — more often — the large-size bed pads.

Shirts are made into "johnny coats" by the volunteers. Dozens of these short garments are given away each year.

In addition to the regular dressings available free from the Society to every cancer patient in the county, there are back rests which will be loaned to patients needing them.

†19,602 FREE CANCER DRESSINGS were handed out from these dust-free cabinets at Cancer Society unit headquarters, 615 Sarah St. during 1954. The cabinets hold about 4,000 dressings. They're made by volunteer workers. No charge is made for them at any time. Here Mrs. John Stanford puts a new bundle of dressings on shelf. At a conservative estimate, the 19,602 dressings provided by the Society unit last year would have cost nearly $4,000 if available on the commercial market.

The Society unit also has on hand one wheelchair which may be loaned out to a patient needing it who is suffering from cancer.

There is no red tape involved in getting the free dressings. All that's needed is a call from the patient's family or his nurse.

This call is made to the Cancer Society headquarters at 615 Sarah St. Once the call has been made, Mrs. Stanford checks with the patient's doctor to determine whether or not the dressings need to be sterile.

If the doctor requests sterile dressings, the regular dressings are taken to Monroe County General Hospital. Here they are sterilized without charge to the patient.

If a visiting nurse has been assigned to the patient's home, the nurse will transport the dressings from Society headquarters to the home.

If no nurse is assigned, the dressings are picked up at the unit office by a member of the family. The office is open Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of each week from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m.

In the case of the visiting nurse, the Cancer Society local unit helps pay for the cost of the nurse if the family cannot afford to pay.

Providing free dressings to Monroe County cancer patients is just one of the many real, day-by-day services given by the Cancer Society unit.

Others—including transportation of cancer patients—will be considered in the next article in this series.

West Point Picture At The Sherman

THE FIRST motion pictures ever made of West Point's famous cadet chapel can be seen at the Sherman Theatre in Columbia Pictures' spectacular John Ford production, "The Long Gray Line," starring Tyrone Power and Maureen O'Hara in Cinemascope and color by Technicolor. Also starred are Robert Francis, Donald Crisp, Ward Bond, Betsy Palmer and Phil Carey. Because of the difficulty of lighting the building, no successful attempt had ever before been made to film the interior, and Pentagon photographers took advantage of Columbia's lighting arrangements to make the government's first films of the structure.

For this sequence, in which the Corps of Cadets first learns during Sunday chapel of Japan's sneak attack on Pearly Harbor, a record amount of equipment was transported by a dozen-truck caravan from Hollywood. It included dozens of high-powered lights, 18 tons of electrical cable, seven diesel generators and hundreds of minor appliances. The West Point chapel is the largest interior set ever filmed by a Hollywood studio away from its own sound stages.

"The Long Gray Line" is based on Sergeant Marty Maher's autobiography, "Bringing Up the Brass," and was produced by Robert Arthur.

News of the World in Pictures

A LIGHTER MOMENT—These Windy City gals are huffing and puffing, but they can't blow out a new wind-proof lighter being introduced at a tobacco distributors' show.

TRIBAL BUSINESS — Princess Little Thunder arrives in Washington from Rolla, N.D., to meet President Eisenhower and tell him about the town's one vital defense industry—a precision instrument plant. She's there for an exhibit.

BIG STEP FORWARD—Symbolic, perhaps, is this picture of Sir Anthony Eden, who becomes the center of world-wide attention as Great Britain's new prime minister.

WHACKING GOOD TIME—These Japanese youngsters joust with sticks in front of a school in Tokyo. This sport was formerly meant to develop their skill with swords.

HE'S HER BUDDY—Ruth Ann Lilley proudly presents a Buddy Poppy to Republican minority leader Joseph Martin of the House of Representatives. Ruth lives in an orphan home of Veterans of Foreign Wars in Eaton Rapids, Mich.

BIGGER BEEF COMING—An electronic harness is strapped to this steer to record the movements it makes eating and moving around in Gateshead, England. Object of the instrument is to learn which grasses cattle like best. The experiment, it is hoped, will lead to a tenderer grade of beef as well as boosting the production of milk on farms.

THEY'RE HOPPING MAD ABOUT 'ROOS

Hunters get ready to hunt troublesome 'roos. Some graziers seek 2-year open season.

This kangaroo fell to hunter's gun, but there is little danger they'll become extinct.

TO MOST of us, the kangaroo, with her young peeking out of her pouch, is an appealing animal, but not in New South Wales where they are destroying property to the sad tune of several million dollars. Hordes of 'roos hide by day in the grass and come out at night to forage. They knock over fences and gates and eat pasture land. In the winter drought, they ate every shred of pasture for hundreds of miles. Poisoning is out and fencing in lands is too expensive so an open season from May to July has been decreed. Whether that will help is doubtful. One hunter averages 200 a week without seeming to dent the hordes that leap across Australia's plains.

'Roos can hit 40 miles an hour, but this one won't again.

Record Set At St. John's Easter Day

ALL RECORDS for activities at St. John's Lutheran Church were broken during the Easter season, according to an announcement by the pastor, the Rev. P. N. Wohlsen, D. D.

Every service was well attended throughout the day. A large congregation at the sunrise service heard Dr. Wohlsen speak on the three vital words: "He is Risen." At the session of the Church School the attendance broke all previous Easter attendances and at the Festival service at 10:45 o'clock standing room was the order, when the Rev. Dr. Theodore Finck of Philadelphia brought the Easter message.

A fine musical program of Easter music was presented at both services by the senior choir under the direction of Richard Lindgoth, choirmaster and Miss Eleanor Decker the organist.

Indications are that when the final returns are made for the special Lenten-denial-Easter offering that the whole quota for Lutheran World Action for St. John's will have been raised.

At 2:30 in the afternoon the pastor officiated at the administration of the Sacrament of Baptism to seven children as follows: —Susan Gail Saylor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Saylor of Tannersville, with the parents serving as sponsors; Denise Freda and Deborah Ann, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Durns, with the parents as sponsors; Sharon Kay and Cindy Ruth, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Roes with mother and Sarah Fogel as sponsors; Michael Frank, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Mitchel Uklenowich with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Clifton as sponsors.

At 4:30 the Easter service by the church school was conducted when a beautiful tableau with Mrs. Richard Lindroth as reader was presented before a large congregation. Music was furnished by the junior choir and a sizeable offering was received for the Good Shepherd Homes at Allentown. Dr. and Mrs. Wohlsen will leave this week for a post-Easter vacation. The pulpit will be occupied by the Rev. C. E. Hays next Sunday.

Ehrgood Rites Are Conducted

FUNERAL SERVICES were held yesterday afternoon for William J. Ehrgood, 61, late of Delaware Water Gap, from the Lanterman Funeral Home with Rev. Harold C. Eaton officiating.

Interment was in the Simonstown Cemetery, Pike County. The pallbearers were Edward Roth, Edward Wollyung, Charles Ehrgood, Burton Hilliard, Ronald and Fred Strunk.

THE FRENZIED GROPE

pursues the glitter and passes up the gold

The GROPE is an advertiser who'd rather be flashy than right.

He walks when others are riding, and shaves with a goldplated axe.

Seeks pie in the sky rather than use the one medium that's proven productive so long for so many.

Fortunately, the GROPE is a rare creature.

Wise advertisers know that the newspaper is basic — no matter what the virtues of other media are.

They know that almost every person in every community reads a newspaper sometime during each day.

They also know that people have a strong allegiance to their newspapers, believe in newspapers, and shop from newspapers.

Thus, whatever advertising schedule they build, they make newspapers their solid foundation.

No wonder advertisers placed more money in newspapers last year than they did in television, radio, magazines and outdoor — combined!

All business is local... and so are all newspapers!

Violet Clark To Speak On Masks To Club

Saylorsburg—There has been a change in the program for the Progressive Woman's Club meeting to be held Wednesday night at the Chestnuthill High School Auditorium, Brodheadsville. Mrs. Fern Albert will not speak at this meeting.

Instead Miss Violet Clark, just back from three months in Louisiana, will give a talk on masks she has made, especially during the recent Mardi Gras season in New Orleans. Miss Clark, sculptor, has made masks of many prominent people, and it was on a commission to do two masks that she went to Louisiana. She will speak on her experiences there which included demonstrations for the polio drive in Baton Rouge, and invitations to 12 of the Mardi Gras balls.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Two days of sunshine and even the stay-at-homes are beginning to look healthier with a faint pink tinge over-coming the winter pallor—or maybe it was the reflection of those pink flowers on the new spring bonnets.

The pink flush I was sporting was not sun burn, however, but fire scorch. You'd think with all these grass fires being reported every day, I'd have more sense than to burn rubbish, no matter how big that pile was growing or how still the day.

It's a good thing we had some active boys around when things started getting hot—and I do mean hot. That's how I got scorched standing there jumping up an down and yelling, "It's started up on this side again".

And some of the color at the Woman's Club meeting came from blushes as the speaker struck home with his barbs about holes in the lampshades, matching end tables, and pea green walls. Personally if we had matching anything I'd consider it a triumph.

It seems as if our furnishings grew by natural accretion, like the stuff that piles up around a backwater in a river. Very unappetizing it always seems at Spring housecleaning time.

Well, anyway, everybody got fresh inspiration from the meeting which was the idea, after all. Maybe we could paint it all black and it would just sort of disappear.

P. S. I knew Bobbie Gilpin had a hat, but after that comment the other day, I think it only just to mention what a very becoming one she was wearing at the Woman's Club meeting yesterday afternoon.

Color Marks Meeting Of Womans Club

Color marked the meeting of the Stroudsburg Woman's Club yesterday afternoon at the Stroud Community House in program, dress and tea table.

The dress was of blue net, made and modeled by Miss Grace Hagaman of Stroudsburg High School, winner of the Woman's Club special award for excellence in the recent home economics exhibition. Mrs. Miriam Lark Marcks introduced the 17-year-old winner and explained the points which made the judges pick the dress as the best in the show. An evening dress with a matching jacket, the dress was trimmed with ruffles of net and nosegays of pink flowers.

The program featured Herve Coubet, artist, designer and authority on interior decorating whose topic was "Are You Afraid of Color". "There are only three colors," he insisted, "red, yellow and blue," and from them all other colors are derived."

By using the color wheel, color triads can be safely chosen and varied in value and intensity, he said and urged women to express their own personalities in the colors they chose. At random, he picked club members and gave his impressions of the color schemes they would compliment them. Te also answered questions concerning individual problems and inwords re-decorated the meeting rooms of the club.

He advocated walls, woodwork and ceilings of one color to provide a setting for the furniture. He deplored the over-use of green, the perfection of balance as represented by couch with enamel, and furniture placed around the walls.

"Modern living calls for grouping of furniture according to the use to which the client plans to make of it, "he said.

Using pictures painted by members, he arranged color schemes for the rooms in which they would hang illustrating the colors with fine fabrics he had brought with him.

He was introduced by Mrs. Claude W. Leister, program chairman, who also introduced Mrs. Frank Kerr who on behalf of Mrs. Robert Miller distributed cards on which members were to record whether or not they had the five-point medical check-up recommended by the Cancer Society.

A plastic summer hand bag made by Irene Van Why, blind artisan, was on display and members interested were asked to leave orders, with the proceeds going to the Irene Van Why Fund, a county project.

Mrs. Walter H. Caulfield, president, presiding at the meeting, announced further details for the County Federation's spring meeting at which the Stroudsburg Club will be host, and read a letter from the General Federation Members inviting individual members to contribute to the great 50-story Cross of Faith to be erected in the population center of the United States.

Mrs. Grant W. Nitrauer read the report of the nominating committee for officers to be elected at the May meeting.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served at a tea table decorated with a large pink basket filled with an Easter egg tree ith eggs in pastel colors matching the snapdragons, Iris, daffodils and tluips, which surrounded it and a plush Easter bunny.

Before the meeting, Mrs. J. Frank Grimm received packages of wool needles and sewing material to be sent to German Youth Centers, as part of the club's international project.

Women Must Exercise To Win Letter

By Vivian Brown
AP Newsfeatures
Beauty Editor

This is the season to make your letter in good grooming. Strive for the stylish A or H and woe unto the girl who winds up with an S or C.

Tall or small, you'll need to stretch your way to glamor to be in the fashionable swim in afternoon dress or bathing suit. There can't be the hint of a fat roll above your girdle in this new silhouette. Stylish ladies who know their P's and Q's will start developing their A or H now.

It means your midriff will be straight and flat, no matter which style you choose. There'll be no curves from shoulder to calf for those who carry out the look to the letter.

Diet is important to this slim-Jill appearance. But exercise is a must.

You'll have to stretch whenever you think of it, and every morning when you wake up. Open the window, raise your arms overhead and pull yourself up, up, up lifting your rib cage out of your hips and hips out of thighs. After a few days of that posture exercise, you'll even feel taller, if that is one of your aims.

Other exercises that will help include these:

Hip Whittler . . . Lie down on the floor, bend legs putting feet flat on the floor. Swing hips to the right, keeping upper torso and arms flat on the floor. Now swing hips to the left. Do each side 10 times.

Abdomen Flattener . . . Stand with feet apart, arms in the air. Bend down touching left fingertips to right foot without bending your knees. Each day will bring you a little nearer to your goal. Bend down touching your right fingertips to left foot.

Midriff Eraser . . . Stand with feet apart. Hold left hand over your head, right one on your hip. Bend right, reaching right with the upraised left hand as far as you can go. Do the same exercise on the left side.

Do these exercises as many times as you like without tiring. It is a good idea to start at 10 times a day and work up from there. As in all things, perseverance pays off.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

My cousin lives in an old house that has a door key at least seven inches long. It's cute as the dickens, I think—much more picturesque than the ordinary little key that fits the Yale lock of my apartment—and I am consumed with envy until I realize what a headache it must be toting her key around in a purse. It wouldn't be easily lost as mine, that's true . . . but my key fits into any style handbag I might choose, from a tiny evening envelope to an even tinier wallet.

Nevertheless, large keys intrigue us—so it was only natural that I'd stop to admire the shiny (and heavy) brass one in our center aisle gift department. It is a duplicate of a key to the Governor's Mansion in Colonial Williamsburg, but you and I would use it as a most unusual paper weight.

This is one of many authentic colonial pieces in both brass and iron to arrive recently at Wyckoff's. There is a brass hostess bell, for instance, that is a duplicate of one used in very early America. The bell takes the form of a lady gowned in the farthingale typical of 1760-65. Paper clips in wild duck and other designs; trivets with the royal crest of Great Britain, and silhouettes in iron of Martha and George Washington, are other interesting highlights of this fascinating collection.

To me, however, the key is far and away the most delightful piece of all. At the moment it's my heart's desire . . . which probably makes it "the key to my heart". The only drawback is that the price of $3.75 is somehow not in "key-ping" with my financial status just two-days-before-payday.

Men are getting more handsome all the time. But I'm not carried away to the point of not knowing why. It's their shirts that are creating the illusion—and the prettiest shirts of all are right here at Wyckoff's.

The display in our men's department right now is absolutely dazzling . . . have you noticed? Bearing the Eagle label are cottons galore — some of them the finest broadcloth with splotches of pretty color on white . . . some of checked design with threads of cool mesh woven through solid fabric . . . some of a linen finish that speaks of immaculate grooming and perfect taste. There are shirts in blue, pink, melon, and offbeat colors . . . shirts with fageting of contrasting tints . . . and shirts so glamorous any woman might raid her husband's wardrobe to brighten up her slacks and jeans.

Even the man who would not ordinarily give the shirt off his back to anyone, might find he's lost it—and we can't blame the women at all. These masculine styles are dashing enough to be in the tailored blouse department . . . but still manly enough to entrance any woman, whether they are in a box or on a guy.

The deep, scoop necklines of this season pose a problem all their own . . . a problem having to do with lingerie straps. The answer as we see it is Seamprufe's polished cotton Cova Bra slip, to be worn over any strapless bra. The fitted, embroidered bodice makes this almost evening-gown pretty, and you'll find it in our lingerie department priced at 3.98.

Inter-Relationship Between Forest Lands, Good Fishing Challenge To All Sportsmen

By Eugene McNamara
Research Forester
Delaware Forest District

AT FIRST glance, this may seem to be a peculiar statement. You might even go so far as to consider it a foolish statement. Here in the Poconos we are blessed with some of the finest trout fishing in the eastern United States. In fact, several of our trout streams are listed among the top ten in the Nation.

Many of us take our fishing seriously and each April 15 takes on the appearances of a legal holiday with as many as possible wetting a line regardless of the weather.

Another question we might ask ourselves is: "What have I done to help my fishing?" Maybe you've helped the fish warden stock fish or build small dams to regulate stream flow. This is indeed constructive work. However, only a small number of fishermen are able to help in this manner. Did you ever consider that the camp fire you took extra pains to douse may have helped your fishing even more than the above mentioned assistance?

Few people realize the interrelationship between good forestry and good fishing. Practically all of our mountain streams are born in the slopes or swamps of our forest. Most of them travel many miles through the forest before reaching our larger streams and rivers. It is usually along these forested routes that our streams provide the optimum in fishing.

This is easy to understand. The soil of our forests acts as a sponge absorbing and storing most of our rainfall. Some of this water is used by the trees and other vegetation. Some of it emerges as cool springs starting or adding to our streams. The forested watershed insures that there will be a continuous and regular flow to adequately supply the fish living in the stream.

The forest also affects the water temperature by shading the stream. We all know the surest place to catch big trout is in some deep, shaded pool where the water is usually very cold. Trout don't inhabit these pools just because they happen to be there. Trout require cold water for proper growth and existence.

Let's go back to that camp fire we mentioned earlier. Probably you still wonder the connection between that and good fishing. We all know water doesn't burn but one untended camp fire or one single misused match can destroy your fishing. Fire can change a cool, clear, even flowing stream into a muddy, raging, torrent after heavy rains and a dry river bed during times of drought. Your care of the woods may easily decide your fishing future.

Last year, 1954, the Delaware District of the Department of Forests and Waters, which includes most of the Poconos, suffered the worst fire year since 1944. As you go to your favorite fishing spot this year, you may pass through some of the more than 3000 acres burned during last year. It should serve as a reminder to you to be extra careful.

The opening of trout season usually coincides with the beginning of the spring fire season. The Foresters, Rangers and Towermen become extra vigilant to make sure your forest doesn't burn. To do a good job, they need cooperation from everyone who purchases a fishing license or uses the woods.

Remember with good forestry we can have good fishing; but, poor forestry and a burning forest is indeed a poor one, means poor fishing.

First Full 1955 Schedule Listed For Major Leagues Today

Municipal Stadium

By The Associated Press

"CHUCK" Dressen's Washington Senators and Stan Hack's Chicago Cubs, two longshots in the pennant races, top the majors Monday night after winning the special preview openers.

Kansas City warmed up for its American League debut at new Municipal Stadium with a welcome parade through the downtown streets for Manager Lou Boudreau and his Athletics.

The A's hope to show their new fans that they are changed men by rising against the Detroit Tigers in Tuesday's opener before 35,000. Boudreau banks on Alex Kellner (6-17), a veteran lefty, to start the Kansas City revival against Detroit's Ned Garver (14-11). All reserved seats have been sold out for a week with about 4,000 unreserved tickets going on sale this morning.

Cleveland's defending American League champs expect the largest turnout, 50,000 fans, to see Bob Lemon (23-7) pitch against Chicago's Virgil Trucks (19-12) at Cleveland where Ralph Kiner will be making his debut as the Tribe's new leftfielder. Although few expect the Indians to win 111 games again, they are even-money favorites to repeat as champs.

The runnerup New York Yankees, hoping to bounce back into the big World Series money, open at home against Washington with Whitey Ford (16-8) opposing Maury McDermott (7-15) in a battle of lefthanders. A crowd of 25,000 is expected.

Baltimore's rookie-laden Orioles count on a turnout of 41,000 to watch them open at home against the youthful Boston Red Sox. Joe Coleman (13-17) is scheduled to work for the Orioles against Frank Sullivan (15-12) of the Red Sox who still are waiting to hear from Ted Williams.

Six new managers, some of them slightly used, will be starting new jobs in the American League where only Al Lopez of Cleveland and Casey Stengel of the Yanks remain. The National has only one new skipper. He's Mayo Smith of the Phillies whose first task will be to face the world Champion New York Giants.

Smith has adopted the approved method of managing the Phillies by naming Robin Roberts (23-15) for his sixth opening day pitching assignment. He will be opposed by Johnny Antonelli (21-7), the lefty who helped Leo Durocher win the pennant.

Pittsburgh, which helped knock Brooklyn out of the 1954 race, opens at Ebbets Field where 17,000 are due to see the veteran Max Surkont (9-18) face the Dodgers' Carl Erskine (18-15). Despite all the spring fuss, Jackie Robinson will be at third base for Brooklyn. The Pirate lineup, a fluid thing, will show three new faces in outfielders Ramon Mejias and Tom Saffell and shortstop Dick Groat, back from the Army.

Milwaukee, as usual, will pack 'em in again with 40,000 watching Warren Spahn (21-12) of the Braves oppose Gerry Staley (7-13) of Cincinnati. The Braves are the pre-season pick of the baseball writers to win the pennant although the betting odds favor the Giants 6 to 5.

The Chicago Cubs meet the St. Louis Cardinals at Wrigley Field with Paul Minner (11-11) opposing Brooks Lawrence (15-6), the Cards' husky starter-reliefer. The Cubs won the Grapefruit-title.

East Stroudsburg High Raises Curtain On Diamond Wars

Hickman To Work Against Easton Foe

EAST Stroudsburg High School lifts the lid on its 1955 baseball season today against a strong Easton High nine. The contest, to be played at East Stroudsburg Playground, is scheduled to get underway at 2:30 p.m.

Coach Jack Kist last night announced that young Curt Hickman, a hard working southpaw, will open on the hill today for the Cavaliers. Hickman was the star hurler for Bushkill, a member of the Pocono Mountains League, last summer.

Bill Sommers, ace right hander, is expected to finish up today's mound chores.

Kist revealed that Charley Litts, a converted outfielder, had won the starting assignment from Dick Shaffer and Al Smith, but only after a hotly contested battle.

Bill Pensyl, Dick Gray and Gene Plaza, all veteran campaigners, will be at first base, second base and third base respectively. Jerry "Moose" Zehman, a senior and a resident of Portland, will handle the opening shortstop duties.

Bob "Red" Kupiszewski, seasoned ball-hawk, will be in left field, while Tom Michael takes over in centerfield and Helmut Gartner operates in right field.

The East Stroudsburg coach announced that several other members of the team would probably see action in today's tussle.

Kist also revealed that Pensyl and Litts were elected co-captains of this season's baseball squad at yesterday's practice.

Easton will be led into town by Coach Ed Snyder, former catcher and utility infielder with the Stroudsburg Poconos, when the class "D" North Atlantic League was still in operation.

The Cavaliers will probably be called upon to face Jerry Dalrymple and Don Boscia, two highly regarded moundsmen who combined to pitch a no-hitter in last Tuesday's opening tussle with Bangor, Easton won the contest by a 9-0 count.

East Stroudsburg's home field has been repaired and is in comparatively good playing condition at the present time.

The Cavaliers are slated to return to action on Friday, against Port Jervis, on the New York school's home field.

WHICH ONE?—Bill Sommers, who will do most of the pitching for East Stroudsburg High School this season, is shown on the right above in a puzzled position. He doesn't know who will be his catcher this season, as Dick Smith, left, and Al Shaffer, right, are among those battling for the receiving position. Several Pilots Debut With New Clubs

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—We were tempted to start this with something dramatic and original, such as "play ball".

But we'll be trite and just say the major league baseball season starts tomorrow, except in Washington and Cincinnati, where it started today, and the fans will see about as many new managers as they do new players.

Not necessarily new managers, as some of them date back beyond prohibition. But their short, tall, slim or stout figures will be decked out in new uniforms.

The National League has been fairly conservative, with only one new pilot. Mayo Smith, a real nice guy, is making his major league debut as manager of the Phillies.

But there has been an almost unprecedented turnover in the American League, with six clubs having new field bosses, three of the men having shifted from other clubs in the league. Paul Richards, the new all-purpose model at Baltimore who doubles as field manager and general manager, was White Sox pilot last year; "Bucky" Harris, now at Detroit, was with Washington, and Lou Boudreau, 1954 Red Sox manager, is at Kansas City.

"Pinky" Higgins of the Red Sox came up from the minors, Marty Marion moved up from coach to take Richards' place with the White Sox, and Charley Dressen bouncing back from Oakland, succeeded Harris at Washington.

We may not be quite accurate in saying there's only one new manager in the National League. Dressen seems to be managing the Dodgers as well as officially taking care of the Senators.

Charley, in his usual breezy, free-wheeling way, has picked up Brooklyn starting lineup, predicted the Bums should win the pennant, and otherwise given Walter Alston the benefit of his knowledge of the Dodger roster. All for free.

The personable little guy with the twinkle in his eye has a tongue that wags with the abandon of a happy pup's tail, and in his incessant flow of words he is bound to say some things which hurt somebody's feelings.

We don't believe there is anything vicious in these verbal darts, as they seemed to be dropped in casually. But they sting just the same.

He has taken several oblique shots at his predecessor at Washington, Harris. For one thing, he says that the Senators will win a lot of those one-run games they lost last year, and if that isn't sideswiping Bucky's managerial ability we don't know what a sideswipe is.

He also has predicted the Senators will finish ahead of the Tigers, and inasmuch as it was the other way around last year it is a clear intimation that he will do more with the Washington club than Harris did.

These statements are just the outpouring of a cocky, confident man, one not afraid to put himself on a spot. If his team doesn't do as well as he predicts he isn't the fellow to say he was misquoted.

Personally, we think Dressen is a very fine manager; one who will prod, and needle, and generally stir up his team to its best efforts. Just how good that best effort is remains the question. Sometimes it helps to have a jigger of ability to go along with the will to win.

Lowry Closes With Rush To Earn Ring Nod Over Adams

NEW YORK, April 11 (AP)—Pat Lowry closed with a rush, crashing home enough overhead rights to win a majority decision over Pete Adams of Newark, N. J., tonight in a 10-round bout at St. Nicholas Arena.

Two officials voted for Lowry and one called it a draw. Lowry weighed 149½, Adams 152½ pounds.

Lowry's winning margin actually was a single point on the scorecard of Judge Joe Agnello, who scored it even in rounds 5-5 but gave the Toledo, Ohio, Irishman 6 points to Adams 5.

Referee Barney Felix had Lowry on top 5-4-1 and Judge Harold Barnes had it even 5-5 in rounds with eight points for each boy.

The AP card had Lowry ahead 5-4-1.

ESSTC To Feature Well Mixed Squad

COACH GEORGE Ockershausen is currently blending veterans and newcomers into what he hopes will be a winning baseball combination at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College this season.

The Warriors are scheduled to launch an 11-game schedule on Saturday, with Lincoln University providing the opposition on the Normal Hill field. The contest is slated to get underway at 2 p.m.

Ockershausen is ready to open the season with a veteran infield anchored by Bob Hartman, a senior, at first base. Carmen Martucci, former Lehighton High star, will be back at third base once again. Martucci is also a senior.

Denny Roth, a sophomore, will be at shortstop, while Dave Smith and John Powers, both sophomores, are currently battling for the starting second base position.

In the outfield Ockershausen has another trio of veterans in mind for starting positions. The list includes Charley Shaw, a senior, in left field, and a pair of juniors, Norman Antoine and Jack Newell, will be in center and right field respectively. Newell formerly starred at Stroudsburg High.

Guido DeTorrice and John Gibbons, a pair of sophomores who did the catching last season, will be back at their old stands this year. DeTorrice and Gibbons will be backed up by Bill Berger, a junior, and Joaquin Cardozo, a freshman.

Jim Passaro, of Allentown fame, will anchor the mound staff once again. The strong armed right hander, number one pitcher last season, is a senior. Ray Kaseman, another senior and star performer from last year, will head the southpaw division of the staff.

Other veterans back this season are John Lea, a sophomore, and Bill Cramp, a senior. Both Lea and Cramp are right handers.

Newcomers to the pitching staff are Jim Oplinger and Jack Smith, freshman right handers, and Art Reifinger and Bryan Hartman, frosh southpaws. Oplinger is a former Northampton High star.

Five freshman infielders have been in the thick of the scrap for second base, shortstop and third base jobs. The list includes "Zeke" Zellinsky, second, third and short; "Skeets" Jubinski, third base; Art Laurenson, shortstop; Terry Hawk, second base, and John Peduto, all three spots. Peduto formerly was a standout with Pen Argyl High and the West Bangor entry in the Blue Mountain League.

Dick Rice, a freshman, and Jack Brewer, a sophomore, are currently backing up Hartman at first base.

Outfield reserves at the present time include freshman Paul Sonner, Charley Stoffer, Dick Keyser and John Kuhla. Ockershausen revealed last night that Stoffer and Keyser are making strong bids for starting fly-chasing positions.

ESSTC will feature a game squad of 18 men.

Bangor To Battle Pen Argyl On Weona Park Playing Field

BANGOR—Bangor High makes its second trip to the starting post in the 1955 baseball season today when the Slaters oppose Pen Argyl, on the latter's home field. The game will be played at Weona Park and will get under way at 4 p. m.

The Slaters, defeated in their first game, are hopeful of putting things on an even footing today. Bangor dropped a 9-0 decision to Easton last Tuesday, when the charges of Coach J. L. Williams failed to register a hit.

Williams didn't announce a starting hurler for today's encounter, but it will probably be Larry Raph, senior southpaw. Raph is reportedly completely recovered from a recent attack of grippe and ready for action.

Gary Strauss, junior southpaw, and Bill Bray, highly regarded junior right hander, may also be called on for mound duty today.

The remainder of the Bangor lineup will find Ralph "Barney" Stenlake in the role of catcher; Don Keat, first base; Glen Heard, second base; Dick Hess, shortstop; "Jabby" Williams, third base; Duane Miller, right field; Jack Stenlake, center field, and either Bob Butz or Don Evans in left field.

Bangor also has a Thursday date with Phillipsburg High, at Phillipsburg, this week. This game will also begin at 4 p. m.

Coach John Laky will probably start Armand Laub on the hill for Pen Argyl in today's encounter. It is quite possible that Ed Callie and Bill Riker, both veteran flingers, will also toe the rubber before the game becomes history.

Dick Rumsey, moved in from the outfield, will start at first base, while Larry Matthews works at second; Sam Lobb, shortstop, and Ronnie Valletta, third base.

Pen Argyl's outfield will have John Kellow, converted catcher, in left field and Vince Abuzzese in center. Right field will be in doubt right up to game time, with the final choice being between Gerry Roberts, Anthony Coscia and Carl Bone. Roberts and Coscia are both lettermen.

Today's contest isn't a Lehigh-Northampton League encounter. It is the season opener for Pen Argyl.

Strouds To Hold Meeting On Thursday

PLANS FOR a proposed dance will be the number one topic of business when the Strouds, Monroe County's entry in the new Bi-State Baseball League, holds a meeting Thursday.

The meeting, scheduled to be held at The Daily Record offices, will get underway at 7:30 p.m.

Danny Eppley, in charge of dance preparations, will report on his findings.

Bill Frear, secretary of the Strouds, reported that the team made a profit of $50.88 at its benefit party last night.

The Strouds are currently in the midst of raising funds for the coming campaign, but will launch practice sessions in the near future.

Bi-State League play doesn't get underway until after all high school baseball has been completed.

The Bi-State League now plans to operate with five clubs, but may add a sixth at the next meeting.

Three members of the Strouds will attend the next circuit gathering.

Collins Captures Nod Over Tibbs

BROCKTON, Mass., April 11 (AP)—Lightweight George Collins of New York, substituting for injured Al Hunter of New York, scored an upset unanimous 10-round decision over Tommy Tibbs of Boston tonight in the featured boxing bout at Maple Arena. Collins weighed 136½, Tibbs 134.

Hunter was forced to cancel out of the fight after suffering a badly cut lip in training. Collins works as a sparring partner for Jimmy Carter, lightweight king.

Scores KO Victory

NEW ORLEANS, April 11 (AP)—Stocky Kid Centella, 137½, a native Nicaraguan who now calls New Orleans home, battered Noel Humphreys 135½, Charlestown, W. Va., into submission tonight to win a technical knockout in the sixth of a scheduled 10-round match.

Monmouth To Present Rich Stakes

OCEANPORT, N. J., April 11 — Monmouth Park will present the richest stakes in its history during its 50-day meeting which opens on Saturday, June 11 and runs thouogh Monday, August 8, it was announced Saturday by President Amory L. Haskell.

Topping the list of 20 feature events is the Monmouth Handicap, which this year will carry an added value of $75,000, an increase of $25,000 over its worth in 1954. This major test of stamina and speed for three-year-olds and up held its inaugural running in 1884.

Next in line with $50,000 in added monies is the historic Monmouth Oaks, which annually brings together this country's leading fillies. Originating in 1871 this demanding stake, run over a distance of one mile and a furlong, enjoys the distinction of being the eighth oldest stake in the nation.

In addition there is one offering for $30,000, two at $25,000, six at $20,000, eight at $15,000. Over all Monmouth Park's fixtures have been upped $37,500 over their value last year.

All three kinds of racing—flat, hurdle, and turf—featured at the seashore oval will participate in this year's extended program.

Following the current upsurge of interest in steeplechasing two banner events for the hurdle specialists have been programmed. The Midsummer Hurdle Handicap has been raised to $15,000, an increase of $5,000 over the amount offered in 1954, while the Monmouth National Maiden Hurdle will carry a value of $7500.

The Longfellow Handicap for three-year-olds and up and run over the turf course with its new high value of $20,000, bids fair to attract a superior field of grass competitors.

The third ranking stake, from the money added viewpoint, will be the $30,000 Sapling Stakes, traditionally one of the eastern classics for juveniles of either sex. It is one of four scheduled spring events for juvenides and will be run at six furlongs.

Two attractions bearing a $25,000 added value will be the Molly Pitcher Handicap and the Choice Stakes. The Colleen Stakes, the Miss Woodford, the Regret, Select and Lamplighter Handicaps are all in the $20,000 bracket.

Included in the eight $15,000 fixtures are the New Jersey Futurity, exclusively for two-year-olds foaled in New Jersey.

Eisenhower Watches Senators Roll Over Baltimore, 12-5

WASHINGTON, April 11 (AP)—President Eisenhower jinxed Washington's opposition for the second straight year today as the Senators got the 1955 American League baseball season going with a 12-5 rout of the Baltimore Orioles.

The President, after tossing out the first ball, munched popcorn and cheered avidly with each Washington rally. He stuck around to the last out. During the long afternoon, the Senators belabored five Baltimore pitchers with monotonous regularity.

Bob Porterfield made his third opening day start his first such winning performance, scattering six hits and helping his own cause with some sound hitting and fielding.

The rival managers, Chuck Dressen of the Senators and Paul Richards of the Orioles, broke in with their new clubs with some high powered masterminding that frequently had the scorecard-keeping fans puzzled.

At one point, Dressen sent in a pinch runner to run for a pinch runner.

The Senators scored first but relinquished the lead briefly at 2-3 on some dismal infielding. They bounced back with three in the sixth, five in the seventh and two more in the eighth to ring up the win.

Jim Busby, with a double and two singles, and Tommy Umphlett, with a double and a single, led the 10-hit Washington assault.

But the biggest cheer went for Jess Levan, a rookie whose pinch single knocked in the tying run.

That was in the sixth when the Senators sewed up the game. Starter Lou Kretlow yielded a walk to Roy Sievers and Umphlett's single moved him to second. It was at this point that Levan singled Sievers home to make it 3-2.

Eisenhower helped the rally along at the start of the sixth by turning to Clark Griffith, owner of the Senators, and saying: "We better get our rabbit feet out."

Suiting action to the word, the President dug into his trouser pocket and produced a key string with a rabbit's foot attached, which he has had since World War II days. He says he doesn't remember where he got it.

Griffith, not to be outdone, came up with a rabbit's foot given him last year by the President's mother-in-law, Mrs. John S. Doud.

Eisenhower later reminded Griffith he has yet to see Washington lose an opening game since he started attending the openers. The Senators beat the New York Yankees in 1953 and again last year.

Jim Busby

Rookie Don Leppert at second base commited a harmful error on pinchhiter Ernie Oravetz's hopper a moment later, trying for an impossible play at the plate. His wild throw let in one run and set up another.

Earlier, the Senators were guilty of some miserable fielding themselves. In the fifth, errors by shortstop Bob Kline and catcher Bruce Edwards gave the Orioles three unearned runs.

Truman To Toss Ball

KANSAS CITY, April 11 (AP)—Tomorrow will be a day of contrast with 10 years ago for Harry S. Truman.

It was April 12, 1945, that he got the word of the death of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Two and a half hours later, the then Vice President Truman picked up a Bible with left hand, held up his right hand and swore to "faithfully execute the office of the president of the United States."

Tomorrow, as a private citizen with no worries of state, he'll step back into a familiar White House role—tossing out the first ball, this time to start the Kansas City Athletics and the Detroit Tigers on their American League season.

He did the honors eight times in Washington. He threw them with his left — which he favors—but sometimes fooled everyone by tossing from the right. Most of them were loopers.

He hasn't said—and won't—just what arm he'll use tomorrow.

Bowlers Fail To Make Plans

NO PLANS for a post-season roll-off between Crowe's Insurance and Capuro's Service have been made, it was announced late last night by Jake Nittel, captain of the Crowe keglers.

Nittel said that plans wouldn't be completed before tonight and possibly not until tomorrow night.

Crowe's team finished in a tie for first place with Capuro's squad at the end of regulation action this season. A home-and-home series is planned to decide the champion.

This was the first time in 16 seasons that the Delaware Valley League race finished in a deadlock.

Tough Course Too Much For Youngsters In Masters Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 11 (AP) — It's not the pressure and it's not the prestige that makes it so difficult to make a good showing in the Masters golf tournament—It's the beautiful, deceptive, demanding greens of the celebrated Augusta National Course.

That is the shared opinion of Mike Souchak and Gene Littler, the 1-2 money winners on the winter tour who were mentioned prominently in pre-tournament speculation as two of the "kids" who might bring the "old Masters" to their knees.

They didn't succeed.

Cary Middlecoff won the 1955 version of this classic tournament yesterday, beating second place Ben Hogan by a record seven strokes and third place Sam Snead by eight. Middlecoff shot 72-65-72-70-279 against part of 36-36-72.

Souchak, the thick-shouldered former Duke football player from Durham, N. C., said he was not disappointed with his showing in his first Masters—and indeed he shouldn't be, for he finished in a tie for fifth with San Francisco's Bob Rosburg, another of golf's younger set, and veteran Jullus Boros of Mid Pines, N. C.

"When I came here I hoped to shoot 288 (even par) and I went just one stroke over," Souchak said. "I guess that's coming close enough."

What makes a Master different from the other tournaments?

"This course," he replied quickly. "It's harder. This course is much more exacting than the others we play. I could have done better if I had putted better. I seemed to be puiting worse all week than I ever had. But, there again, it probably was those greens that caused it."

Littler, who finished 10 strokes over par at 298 in tie for 22nd, agreed with Souchak.

Monroe County League To Launch Baseball Season

Chestnuthill, Pocono Act As Hosts

MONROE COUNTY League baseball action, like the major leagues, opens with a full schedule of games today, as Chestnuthill attempts to land its third straight crown. Both of today's contests are slated to get underway at 2 p.m.

The Monroe County League is operating with only five teams this season due to the fact that Barrett has given up baseball for one season.

Today's schedule pits defending title holder Chestnuthill against Tobyhanna Township, on the former's home field, while Pocono, another annual power in the circuit, does battle with Coolbaugh, in Tannersville.

Polk, the fifth entry in the circuit, draws a bye in today's schedule. But the charges of Coach Art Smith won't be idle as they have listed a non-league contest with Lehighton, on the latter's home field. This game is also scheduled for 2 p.m.

Chestunthill, a club that has completely dominated the Monroe County warfare for the past two seasons, will open today's contest with Dick Bizousky, a towering right hander, on the mound, Coach Otto "Junior" Mills will surround the big hurler with veteran defensive talent.

Willard Costanzo, another right hander, is expected to toe the rubber for TTHS in the opening encounter of the season.

Pocono, the team that has been the number one threat to Chestnuthill's laurels in recent campaigns, will launch the campaign with Larry Butz in the role of pitcher. Butz is a veteran right hander with plenty of ability.

Coolbaugh lost several of its diamond squad by graduation last June and will field a team of unknown quality in today's bill-lifter.

Polk will face Lehighton with a mixture of veterans and newcomers. A total of 20 candidates answered the baseball call at Polk this season.

Matty Held, a sophomore, and Earl Meckes, a freshman, will handle the catching duties for Polk this season, with the former a holdover from last season.

Smith is currently working with six pitchers, who will play elsewhere when not on the mound. Sherwood Smith, a right hander, is the only senior pitcher on the staff. Bob Kuebner, a junior, and Joe Romascavage, a freshman, give the Polk coach two southpaw hurlers with which to work.

Sherwood Smith is also the number one first baseman, while Romascavage battles Charley Raub, a sophomore, for the second base post. Berger, Meckes and Kresge are in the midst of a battle for the shortstop post, with the former holding the inside track. Either Meckes or Kresge is expected to open in center field today.

Bonnie Smith, a junior, is all alone at third base, while Leo Berger, a freshman, opens in left field and John Snyder, a junior, launches the campaign in right field.

Coach Smith plans to carry a game-squad of 15 players.

Friday's Monroe County League schedule will find Coolbaugh and Tobyhanna Township battling at Pocono Pines, while Pocono and Polk clash at Kresgeville.

Cardinals Trim Pitching Corps

ST. LOUIS, April 11 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals trimmed their pitching roster to a still-bulky 15 men today by sending righthanders Stu Miller and Gary Blaylock to Omaha of the American Association.

Blaylock was sent to the Cardinal farm club on option and Miller was sold outright to Omaha.

Bolton Halts Moore In Third

PROVIDENCE, R. I. April 11 (AP)—Bob Bolton, 160, Providence, knocked out Curtis Moore, 161, Newark, with a thunderous right cross in the third round of their scheduled 10-rounder tonight.

Moore's head hit the canvas with a terrific thud, and he appeared to be seriously hurt. But he revived with help from the commission physician.

ALTHOUGH we are a day or more late getting to our annual task of predicting the outcome of the National and American League pennant races, I believe its still early enough to do the job without serious damage. Unless maybe some hopeful soul has an idea that Washington, Baltimore, Cincinnati or Chicago may rock the baseball world in their respective circuits. Well, here goes and may the next several months give us the best baseball possible.

In the American League its New York, Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, Boston, Washington, Baltimore and Kansas City in that order. Over in the National League this column likes the Giants to repeat, although severely pressed by the Braves. The Dodgers should finish third and the Cardinals fourth. The second division will list Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Chicago and Pittsburgh in that rotation.

I realize that most of the baseball experts pick Cleveland to repeat as the American League pennant winner. But, since this scribe doesn't propose to be any sort of an expert, we'll string along with the Yankees—although we aren't a vocal supporter of the Bronx Bombers. I find it hard to even believe that the Yankees could miss drawing down all the marbles for two straight years. Except for last season, it has been an annual habit.

Bob Turley should pick up the pitching staff, although the Bombers will undoubtedly miss Allie Reynold's relief work. Manager "Casey" Stengel now has the best bench in baseball and should be able to juggle the lineup to his heart's content, without lack of ability. Cleveland's mound corps, even with Herb Score, is in a doubtful position. Early Wynne, considered by many as the number one hurler on the staff, will be a hospital patient on opening day, and may be out of action for several weeks.

Bob Lemon appears to be his usual self, but the staff can't keep rolling at the pace it has set in recent campaigns. This may be the year it cracks. The White Sox don't seem to have enough pitching to cause much trouble, although the remainder of the club is solid right down the line. Big Walt Dropo has been hitting at his old pace and may give the charges of Marty Marion a big lift. Detroit has the best young collection of players in the American League, but they're not ready to press the leaders.

Boston is without Ted Williams—the only noise in Beantown in recent years, except for the splash made recently by Tony DeMarco. The remainder of the circuit, Washington, Baltimore and Kansas City appear to be along only for the ride, although the Senators will probably battle Detroit and the Red Sox for fourth place right down to the final week. It looks like a long season for both the Orioles and A's at this early date.

The Giants are our pick to repeat in the senior circuit—even though they are standing pat on their lineup. They always have Leo Durocher and the "Say Hey Kid", and if Monte Irvin and Jim Hearn return to their old form the pennant will again fly from Coogan's Bluff. This is the year the Braves are supposed to deliver. They are strong in the outfield, infield and behind the plate. They have the terrific advantage of having a tremendously loyal following—but from this angle the pitching staff doesn't appear quite ready.

Brooklyn is growing old. The Bums may have lost more than appears on the surface during the winter months. From here it looks like the Flatbush color bearers need a rebuilding, rather than a pennant tonic, even with Roy Campanella in good health. St. Louis looks stronger than a year ago and should battle the Phillies right down to the wire before clinching the final first division berth. The Phillies will be hampered by the fact that Del Ennis and Richie Ashburn will be below par for the first couple of weeks due to injuries.

The Quakers don't have the hitting and right now the pitching is extremely spotty. Cincinnati will be hard pressed to finish sixth. The Redlegs, through spring training, didn't appear as strong as the first season they worked under "Birdie" Tebbetts. The Chicago Cubs could very easily be the surprise team of both leagues this season, but on paper the Bruins don't appear to be worth more than sixth place, or possibly the number five spot at best. Pittsburgh again appears destined to finish number eight in the final standings.

Cubs Show Power In 'Parade Of Hurlers' Win Over Cincinnati On Opening Battle Of Season

CINCINNATI, April 11 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs hit for distance today against wobbly Cincinnati pitching and two home runs plus five doubles sparked them to a 7-5 victory over the Redlegs in the opening game of the 1955 National League pennant race.

The game was played before 32,195 fans.

For several hours this morning it didn't look as if the game ever would get started. There was a steady downpour but it ceased about noon and except for one brief shower the game was played under ideal weather conditions.

Art Fowler, Cincinnati's "sophomore" right hander who had his heart set on pitching this opener, lasted only two innings and by that time the Cubs had a 5-0 lead.

Bob Rush, the Cubs' starter, lasted until two were out in the fourth but credit for the victory went to Sam Jones, a former member of the Cleveland organization. He had to be relieved in the ninth, however, when the Reds threatened. Hal Jeffcoat finished.

The Reds, losing their 20th National League opener as against 32 victories, outhit the Cubs, 12-11, but they didn't have the kw blows when they were needed.

Gene Baker and Harry Chiti provided the home runs which sparked the Chicago attack. Ted Kluszewski, last year's major league home run and runs-batted-in king, clubed one for Cincinnati.

Redlegs Ship Scull To Havana

CINCINNATI, April 11 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs today returned outfielder Angel Scull to Havana of the International League.

Scull was obtained from Havana during the winter but suffered a broken right elbow late in the winter baseball season in Puerto Rico.

Giovanelli Earns Decision

BROOKLYN, April 11 (AP)—Brooklyn's Danny Giovanelli finished strong tonight to win a unanimous 10-round decision over Denmark's Chris Christensen in a lively telecast bout at Eastern Parkway Arena. Giovanelli had a seven pound weight edge, 150 to 143.

The aggressor all the way, the 22-year-old Brooklynite absorbed all of the jabs and stinging rights Chris had to offer and then wore down his frail-looking opponent with a relentless body and head attack.

The votes, all for Giovanelli, were: Referee Ray Miller, 8-1-1, and Judges Artie Aidala and Frank Fullman, 9-1 each. The AP card had Giovanelli ahead, 7-3.

The 28-year-old Dane won the ... round from all three officials.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

TUESDAY, APRIL 12, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Not overly strong rays suggest extra caution in new and expansive (or expansive) undertakings. You may reap better results by staying within known spheres of activity.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Be sure you know all the angles and the ins and outs of activities before being ahead. Hidden obstacles could be troublesome to the over-confident. In the afternoon there may be some unexpected assistance.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Because of irritating aspects, look sharply to all sides, watch the reaction of others to your program. You may be called upon to protect personal investments, home, collaterals. Be ready.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Rays better today. Open up any new and worthwhile channel within reasonable scope. Don't let important people or papers wait, and don't be annoyed if you have to wait yourself.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—Sidestep propositions you are not sure of or which have not been well thought over beforehand. Be cooperative, diplomatic in discussions, in business or with family. Avoid rushing at any time.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Control activities so that you may be able to stop quickly if you find you are on the wrong track or are causing contention. There may be fewer possibilities for money and business matters now. Analyze all well.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—This day has pitfalls that could cause trouble if you are careless or lackadaisical. View circumstances calmly, without anxiety or worry however. You should do reasonably well. Emphasize Libra's decorum.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—A faulty outlook could be costly. Do not let cautious or past disappointments influence you and you'll find that ideas are better, tasks easier.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Lack of interest or impatience could cause upsets, retarding the best of plans or effort. With opposite reactions, prospects should be most productive and personal affairs more pleasant.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Your natal planet is in benefic aspect for most well considered activities. Conditions are favorable for cheerful, harmonious associates both at work and at home. Do your part.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Some astute thinking and plenty of ambition needed—especially if you have responsibilities or are depended upon for advice. Friendly rays in the p. m. for personal affairs, romance, family.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Encouraging and stimulating influences for your special tasks, interests IF you go about all calmly. Among top favored: confidential matters, handling beverages, chemicals, oil, medicines, travel.

YOU BORN TODAY are interesting, colorful, at times inclined to fiery disposition, perhaps too demanding. Fine talents and great capability are indicated in your Zodiacal sector. Recognize your many assets and use them as God intends. You can be a charming, likeable person, when you respect others' rights and talents and are not too indifferent. You can show wonderful understanding when living up to your best. 1955 still has numerous advantages for progressive ideas, methods, research, invention and statesmanship. Birthdate: Henry Clay, Amer. statesman, orator.

Reynolds Files Suit Against Bus Company

PHILADELPHIA, April 11 (AP)—Allie Reynolds, former pitching star of the New York Yankees, filed suit for $235,250 against the Philadelphia Transportation Co. today for injuries allegedly suffered in a bus accident here on July 7, 1953.

Reynolds retired this year because of back trouble.

The suit, filed in U.S. District Court by Reynold's lawyer, B. Nathaniel Richter, said Reynolds was riding in chartered PTC bus when the driver tried to go under "an overhead railway system near 30th St. Station."

The bus roof was torn loose and part of it crashed down upon Reynolds, the suit charged, causing "severe, painful and permanent" injuries.

The suit contended the accident was caused "solely by the negligence of the company and its employes."

Because of the accident, the suit alleged, Reynolds has "undergone great pain and will continue to suffer same for an indefinite period of time."

It said Reynolds suffered permanent injuries to both arms, both hands and his back "as well as injuries to his nervous system."

Arcaro Set Down Again

BOWIE, Md., April 11 (AP)—Separate 10-day suspensions for careless riding at Jamaica and Bowie Race Tracks today left Jockey Eddie Arcaro idle until May 3 and will cause him to miss the rich Wood Memorial April 23.

A 10-day suspension handed out by Jamaica stewards begins tomorrow and runs through April 21. Bowie stewards took similar action today, and their 10-day suspension, exclusive of Sunday, will start April 22 and run through May 3, just four days before the Kentucky Derby.

Melbourne Papers Blast Olympic Setup

MELBOURNE, Tuesday, April 12 (AP)—Melbourne newspapers today gave wide play to Avery Brundage's blast on Melbourne's lagging Olympic construction and a leading columnist called for the resignation of the head man of the city's Olympic Games Committee.

In a front page story in the Melbourne Argus, columnist Ken Moses charged that Wilfred Selwyn Kent-Hughes, chairman of the Olympic Games Organizing Committee, had "snubbed" the president of the International Olympic Committee and "must resign—not tomorrow, but today."

While all the Melbourne morning papers were spreading the details of Brundage's interview yesterday, the American softened his tone somewhat in Canberra last night before meeting with Australian Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies.

Although he still expressed disappointment over what he called the limited amount of work actually completed for the 1956 games, Brundage said he did not think he would have to recommend taking the games away from Melbourne.

Ashburn, Ennis Receive Green Light To Play For Phillies Today

By Ralph Bernstein

PHILADELPHIA, April 11 (AP)—Richie Ashburn and Del Ennis, slightly battered and well padded—but still suffering some pain—were declared available to play for the Philadelphia Phillies in tomorrow's National League opener if Manager Mayo Smith wants to use them.

The latest report from the doctors and trainer is that Ennis has a "linear" fracture of the fibula under the left kneecap, but, if the joint is properly padded he can play without aggravating the injury. Dr. John Royal Moore, after taking a series of 10 X-rays today, said the slugging outfielder has a break "about the size of a haid."

Dr. Moore said he found no tears in the ligaments but did discover a small blood clot in Ennis's knee. He told trainer Frank Wiechec that if the proper padding and a knee cage brace is used for protection there would not be sufficient stress to aggravate the injury.

As if the problem wasn't tough enough, Smith learned today that Harry (Peanuts) Lowrey, utility outfielder and a logical replacement for either of the injured stars, had come down with the grippe. His status is doubtful too.

Ashburn jogged around the outfield and took batting practice at a workout today. He complained of a stiffness in his puffed up knee, but indicated he could and wanted to play.

CONGRATULATIONS are offered to Exchange Club boy-of-the-month Howard B. Powell, and his father, East Stroudsburg RD1, by Dr. Evan C. Reese, speaker at the session last night at Presbyterian Church, East Stroudsburg. Powell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David W. Powell. At left is Ralph Burrows.

Improvements For Little League Park

IMPROVEMENTS on East Stroudsburg Little League ball park are under way, Dr. Evan C. Reese told Exchange Club members last night.

A roof is being constructed over the grandstand; toilet facilities are being built; and a pumping station is being set up on Brodheads Creek so that the field can be watered throughout the summer season, Dr. Reese said.

Reese is president of the East Stroudsburg Little League. He reminded listeners that it was Exchange Club which originally organized the Little League program in the East borough five years ago.

There are now eight teams, each sponsored by a different business firm or individual, the doctor said. The league is divided in two parts: major league and minor league. In the major are youngsters aged 10 to 12. In the minor, boys are 8 and 9.

Major league plays in the evening, and minor in the afternoon. There are games Monday through Thursday throughout the summer. Rained-out games are played on Friday.

Dr. Reese said it is a league policy for each boy to play in each game.

In the five years of league play, $14,000 has been raised, Dr. Reese said, of which $9,000 has been put back into developing the field.

Howard B. Powell, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Powell, East Brown St., was named boy-of-the-month.

Russians Show Desperate Character Of Tactics By Calling Austrian Chancellor

By J. M. Roberts
Associated Press News Analyst

BY GOING to work first on Austria's Chancellor Raab the Russians have handed out a good tip on the nature of the last desperate tactics they will use in an effort to prevent rearmament of Western Germany.

If their current efforts were directed basically at an Austrian settlement they would bypass Raab as ineffectual and go directly to the three Western powers with whom they will have to settle in the long run.

They propose to do this, however, only after they have wrapped Raab up in some fine-sounding proposals which he will be politically required to urge upon the Allies.

One such thing is the proposal for all foreign troops to withdraw from the former German satellite in return for a guarantee from the Vienna government that it will not join any alliance directed against any country which fought Hitler.

The Russians would like to make neutralization of Austria a major plank in the treaty. The West, with Austrian acquiescence, clings to the contention that Austrian independence must be complete, as promised long ago, and that it cannot be so unless she has the right to make up her own mind about such things.

The Russians obviously think, however, that if they can get a neutralized Austria they can then create quite a stir against rearmament in Germany by proposing a similar status in return for reunification there.

Some western observers believe that in order to create such a situation with regard to the larger problem, the Russians might come up with Austrian proposals which could be accepted. Nearly all of the issues have been settled for a long time.

One place where the Western Powers can and must hammer the Russians, however, is at an extremely tender spot. When the Russians talk about withdrawing troops from Austria they must also talk about withdrawing from the Balkans, where their military forces are technically posted to guard the supply lines to Austrian occupation forces, but where they are actually the backbone of Communist political control.

On their side, the Russians are likely to counter this by demanding an agreement that after Austria, negotiations will move on to consideration of the foreign armies in Germany. They already have suggested that withdrawal must be the basis of a settlement there too.

This would be almost as delicate a topic for the Allies as withdrawal from the Balkans is for Russia. The whole pattern of Western European defense has been built around Anglo - American guarantees to keep their troops in Europe, which means in Germany, to soothe French fears of a revived Germany.

Theoretically, a neutralized Germany would seem to take care of these fears automatically. Actually nobody believes that a nation such as Germany will remain a military vacuum very long, no matter what agreements may be put on paper.

THE ST. MARK'S Church had an overflowing crowd at its Palm Sunday services Sunday morning to greet Rev. E. T. Horn, D. D., the pastor. The ushers placed chairs in the aisles to seat the people. The following children were baptized: Vicki Lee Hartshorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hartshorn; James LeRoy Weiss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Weiss; Barbara Jean and Janice Yvonne Gerstlauer, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gerstlauer, and one adult, Floyd Strausser. The following were confirmed: Geraldine June Hardenstine, Lester Wilbur Miller, Marie L. Miller, LeRoy James Rinker, Norman Russel Rinker, Ruth Ann Rustine, Richard Lee Schneider, Floyd Strausser, Paul Strausser and Verna E. Strausser. The flowers in the vases were in memory of Mr. and Mrs. William Rustine, while plants in memory of Mr. and Mrs. William Naugle, Norman Butz Jr., and Mrs. Alma Miller, were placed. Communion was administered by the pastor to one of the largest crowds in the history of the church. The choir was heard in the anthem "The Palms," while Glenn Wallingford sang "Teach Me To Pray."

Mr. and Mrs. Gilmour Miller, of Allentown, spent the weekend at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Paul. Callers over the weekend also included Mrs. Henry Cruse, Mrs. Mildred Schutt, of Mt. Pocono, Mrs. Adele Calkins, of Stroudsburg and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Raish, of Nazareth.

Mrs. Nellie Mosteller, of Tannersville, visited on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Keller.

Mrs. Wayne Wallingford and Mrs. Clair Wallingford, daughter, Sharon, spent Tuesday in Allentown.
